ORIENTAL PUBLICATION THE GREATEST EPIC OF THE WORLD

THE MAHABHARATA

Translated into English prose from the original Sanskrit verse
By Late Mr. P. C. ROY, C.I.E. NEW EDITION.
Will be completed in 30 parts. Advance price for 30 parts Rs. 25 post free.
Each part Rupee one and postage Annas four only.
ELEVEN PARTS ARE OUT.

The publication of the new edition of the English version of the "MAHABHARATA" is now taken in hand. The first edition of the work was brought out long, long ago by late Babu Pratap Chandra Roy, C.I.E.

No Hindu, no Indian, no educated man will deny that the Mahabharata is the grandest work that the world has ever produced. The Mahabharata is not only a great Epic like the Iliad or the Odyssey, but it is at a rich history of the time-old age, it being an invaluable work on philosophy and religion, a precious jewel in the store of Politics and Sociology. Indeed, we do not know what it is not. That a wonderful piece of work so embroiled with innumerable varieties can still be a very fine thing is undoubtedly proved by the Mahabharata. Every nation is proud of the Mahabharata that the world has bestowed on her such a production. How much should India value it, thinking it to be her own priceless gem. How much more ought the Hindus to revere it, deeming it to be their own, yes, their own property? How much should they feel flattered that though it is theirs, it has now become a thing of the world.

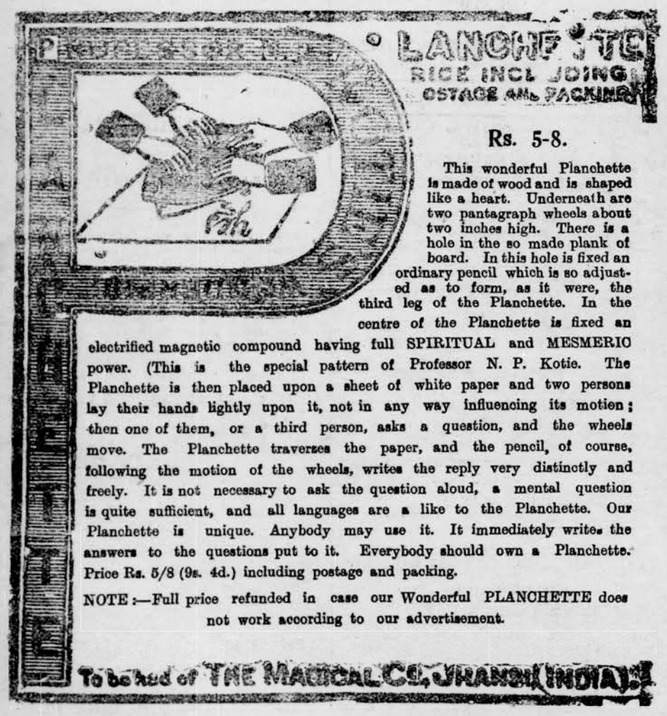
MIRACLE OF SPIRITUALISM



Rs. 5-8.

This wonderful Planchette is made of wood and is shaped like a heart. Underneath are two pantagraph wheels about two inches high. There is a hole in the so made plank of board. In this hole is fixed an ordinary pencil which is so adjusted as to form, as it were, the third leg of the Planchette. In the centre of the Planchette is fixed an electrified magnetic compound having full SPIRITUAL and MESMERIC power. (This is the special pattern of Professor N. P. Kotie. The Planchette is then placed upon a sheet of white paper and two persons lay their hands lightly upon it, not in any way influencing its motion; then one of them, or a third person, asks a question, and the wheels move. The Planchette traverses the paper, and the pencil, of course, following the motion of the wheels, writes the reply very distinctly and freely. It is not necessary to ask the question aloud, a mental question is quite sufficient, and all languages are a like to the Planchette. Our Planchette is unique. Anybody may use it. It immediately writes the answers to the questions put to it. Everybody should own a Planchette. Price Rs. 5/8 (9s. 4d.) including postage and packing.

NOTE:—Full price refunded in case our Wonderful PLANCHETTE does not work according to our advertisement.

To be had of THE MAGICAL CO. JHANSI (INDIA).

SUCCESS AND ENTIRE SATISFACTION GUARANTEED. FULL PRICE REFUNDED IN CASE OF FAILURE.

NOW IS THE TIME TO TEST OUR WONDERFUL PLANCHETTE.
REMARKABLE PRESS OPINION.

The "H. Kesari," Volume II. No. 20, Thursday, October 26:—"We have received a wonderful Planchette from Prof. Kotie for Review. Really it is a wonderful pattern of Prof. Kotie's invention. We are very much pleased to see its wonders. A person puts a question mentally or verbally and the Planchette moves on the paper and writes the answer neatly. Questions regarding the Past, the Present and the Future may be put and answers obtained in any language. Anybody may send for this planchette from the Magical Co., Jhansi, and see the wonders."

FREE LIFE READING TO ALL WHO WRITE AT ONCE.

The well-known European Astrologer, Prof. Roxroy, has once more decided to favour the people of this country with Free Test Readings of their lives from his office in Holland.

Prof. Roxroy's fame is so well-known in this country that he hardly needs an introduction from us. His power to read the lives of people, no matter at what distance they may be, is described as simply marvellous.

In August, 1913 he clearly predicted the Great War, and informed all his clients that a bereavement in Royal circles will affect most of the crowned heads in Europe." Even Astrologers of various nationalities and reputation all over the world acknowledge him as their master and follow in his footsteps. He tells you what you are capable of, and how you can be successful. He mentions your friends and your enemies, and describes the good and bad periods in your life. His description as to past, present and future events will astonish and help you.

Baroness Blanquet, one of the most talented ladies of Paris, says:

"I thank you for my Complete Life Reading which is of extra-ordinary accuracy. I had already consulted several Astrologers, but never before have I been answered with so much truth, or received such complete satisfaction. With sincere pleasure I will recommend you and make your marvelleus science known to my friends and acquaintances."

If you want to take advantage of this special offer and obtain a review of your life, mention the name of this paper and get a Trial Reading free. Money not necessary. Simply send your full name and address (written by yourself) the date, month year and place of your birth and state whether Mr. Mrs. or Miss.

If you wish you may enclose 8 annas (in stamps of your own country) to pay postage and clerical work. Do not enclose coins in your letter. Send your letter to ROXROY, Dept., 1001E. Emmastraat 42. The Hague, Holland, Postage to Holland 3 annas.

Sir,

I saw you one month ago about a business of which I personally was quite sure of success and to my surprise your answer was in the negative and it did happen actually that the business transaction of which I was sure fell through somehow. I saw you again about another business and to that your answer was negative though the business was going on and within 3 days of your reply the business slipped through my hand like magic.

A SENSATION

Once in a great while something happens in the world of art and literature of such momentous importance that it stands out prominently like a Gigantic Beacon Light of History, marking a milestone in the course of human progress.

Such an epoch-making event is the presentation by Carl Laemmle of a vivid and realistic romance of Monte Carlo, screened [illegible] scenic backgrounds of unequalled and [illegible] splendor, the turning point of screen art.

In sheer beauty—lavish magnificence—[illegible]ious splendor that is REAL—beyond anything your wildest dreams ever brought you. The one picture you positively must see.

ASTHMA

RADICAL AND SURE CURE OF 24 YEARS FAME ALL OVER THE WORLD.

The "Amrita Bazar Patrika", Sunday, July 2, 1899.

ASTHMA CURE

TO THE EDITOR,

Sir,—It will be glad tidings to Asthma patients to hear that they can obtain immunity from their terrible sufferings by trying a simple Asthma cure which has come to my knowledge. Babu J. P. Ray is a discoverer of this specific. He is a charitable man and distributes medicine gratis." A good many persons afflicted with this fell disease in Benares have been radically cured by using his medicine. There are a good many prescriptions which give relief from Asthma temporarily, but there is perhaps no recognised medicine which cures it. The suffering world should, therefore, hail with delight the appearance of a medicine of this kind. Babu J. P. Ray has got a pamphlet printed which gives a description of his treatment and the names of men who have benefited by its use and where it is available to the public. This is a marvellous remedy and I would strongly recommend the sufferers from Asthma to make application to the Babu at Durga Kund Road, Benares City.

PATEL BROS.' COTTON REPORT.

Bombay, Nov. 24.

Liverpool due to open to-day about 14 points up.

We have received the following cable from Messrs. Weld and Co., Liverpool, dated the 23rd instant:—

"Short covering and straddle selling. New York, Southern selling early; market improved later on good general buying."

MARKET REPORT.

The sea-saw state of the foreign markets has accentuated the bearish sentiment of the local operators. Values are again down. The price of M. G. Broach April-May delivery is drifting towards Rs. 460 per candy. Arrivals of cotton in the interior are freer than before, and, the offtake being disproportionate, the situation indicates definite weakness. Exports to Europe and Japan have been normal and the local mills are sitting on the fence watching for still lower prices—the obvious reason being that the cloth and yarn markets are inanimate.

LOCAL FORWARD MARKET.

Fully good M. G. Broach April-May opened on the 17th instant at Rs. 471 and advanced to Rs. 479½ on the 18th instant in sympathy with the higher advices reported from New York. In accordance with continued lower advices coming to hand from the Home markets, the rate declined gradually to Rs. 456. From this level the prices steadily went upto Rs. 464 under the influence of profit-takings; the Bazar finally closed steady on the 23rd instant at Rs. 464½. Oomra December-January opened on the 17th instant at Rs. 425 and steadily declined to Rs. 403½ on account of lower advices from Home, and absence of local demand from Japanese Houses. The rate then advanced to Rs. 410½ on short covering and closed easy on the 23rd instant at Rs. 409. Fine M. G. Oomra March opened on the 17th instant at Rs. 423 and going up by a rupee or two declined gradually on the 21st instant to Rs. 404½ in sympathy with the lower advices reported from Home; on the same day the prices advanced to Rs. 414 owing to continued shorts covering and new buying, and closed easy on the 23rd instant at Rs. 412. F. G. M. G. Bengal December-January opened on the 17th instant at Rs. 341 and closed on the 23rd instant at Rs. 335, the highest limit touched being Rs. 343 and the lowest Rs. 332, whilst Bengal March opened on the 18th instant at Rs. 348 which was the highest rate and the lowest being Rs. 342 on the 23rd instant.

PIECEGOODS.

No new feature of importance has transpired in the Cloth Market during the past week. In grey goods there has hardly been any inquiry from Manager. Some retail demand in grey Shirtings has been experienced from Kathiawar only. In White goods some sorting-up lots have been taken up by buyers to satisfy immediate requirements, but beyond this retail demand there has not been any wholesale enquiry, for which the sellers are anxiously waiting. The merchants have not made any profit in the recent arrivals against cheap purchases, and are therefore chary to do further fresh business for forward deliveries, especially at the higher prices now demanded. There is talk of peacefully picketting foreign cloth shops from 1st January 1923, which is hindering free business and merchants are afraid of adding to their commitments. It is reported that Khadi worth Rs. 15,000 has been sold in Bombay on last Sunday and it is estimated that by the 18th of December next Khadi worth five lakhs of rupees will be sold. In pursuance of the resolution of the Gujerat Provincial Congress Committee to picket foreign cloth shops from the 1st December, attempts are being made and speeches delivered throughout Gujerat to enlist volunteers. Meanwhile the President has issued an appeal to dealers saying that if they would not give up their trade, the leaders of Gujerat would have to picket their shops, leaving aside other national work. It is gratifying to note that one of the leading English firms has recently granted to one of its regular dealers, although he was financially strong enough to meet all his liabilities, a concession in his account to the extent of about Rs. 25,000. This speaks highly of the firm in comparison with some of the big continental firms who are rigidly enforcing full payment in accordance with their contracts, so much so that those who are not financially strong are required to sign a promissory note for the difference in value between the bazaar, realising price and the invoice amount. Some other importing firms have also made settlements with their constituents by giving handsome concessions.

With regard to the resolution recently passed by the Bombay Native Piecegoods Merchants' Association protesting against the arrangement of freight contract by Manchester, and asking dealers to book business only on condition that Rs. 1-4 per package is agreed to be paid by the Importing Firm as rebate of freight, it is regretable to note that some merchants have bought stock goods without the above proviso and only on the verbal assurance of the firms that if later on any rebate is arranged to be given, to the dealers, they will also pay the same to the merchants on these transactions. However, it is reported that one dealer who had thus bought from a leading English firm, had the courage to request the firm either to pay Rs. 1-4 per package as rebate of freight or to cancel the contract, and the firm in question agreed to cancel the contract. If any breach of the resolution is brought to the notice of the Association, it is feared that no merchant will have any dealings with that defaulting member.

The Manchester Market has been steady but the merchants have no confidence in the present rise, which is due to the higher values of the raw material and owing to some business having been booked in Dhooties and Mulls for Calcutta and Sheetings and Printed and Dyed Goods for China. The quotations have been pretty stiff and as buyers are hesitating to purchase at current rates, business has failed to mature in numerous instances. The Lancashire operatives who are threatened with the halving of the working week of 48 hours are urging the employers to work alternate weeks instead of three days weekly in order that the workers may draw unemployment dole. Short time is principally affecting the American Yarn section, but the greatest uneasiness exists in the Egyptian Yarn sections and weaving mills. It is declared that trade is going from bad to worse in consequence of disquiet in the Near East. The situation in Lancashire is the worst that has been known for the last forty years and there is little prospect of improvement, one hundred and twenty-nine thousand operatives being affected.

Local Mill Cloths have been steady, with slightly better enquiry. One of the leading mills has been negotiating for fresh business which is likely to result soon. The Ahmedabad Mills, who are holding about a lakh of unsold packages of piecegoods in stock have made some forced sales of small lines of heavily sized cloths at 15 as per lb, and on this basis the local mills here could hardly obtain Rs. 1-4 to Rs. 1-6 the most, for their better quality and that even for small lines.

Japanese goods are quiet with little doing. It is interesting to note that there was a serious decline in the exports of shirtings and sheetings in 1921 as compared with 1920, the drop being of 63 million yards in these and nine millions in drills.

The quotations for the leading chops of Greys and Whites are as under:—

MARWADI'S MARRIAGE IMBROGLIO

ALLEGED FRAUDULENT SUBSTITUTION OF BRIDE.

Kevalchand Ragunathdas Marwadi.
Vs.
Sitabai Kour Balaram Marwadi.
Ramchandra Laxmichand Marwadi

(Before the Chief Justice and Justice Crump)

This was a Criminal Application for revision against the decision of Mr. W. Baker, Sessions Judge of Poona.

The facts material to the case are briefly these:—

One Kevalchand Raghunathdas Marwadi, a merchant of Byadgi Dharwar District lost his first wife in 1917. He was very desirous of marrying a second wife and wrote to a relation of his by name Kachardas to find out a bride for him. Kachardas knew that Pannalal (accused No. 1) of Talegaon had a marriageable daughter Pyari (accused No. 2). Kachardas visited Talegaon in June 1921, and consulted Chunilal (accused No. 2) about his niece Pyari as her father Pannalal was not at home. They both lived together and, therefore, Chunilal agreed and went with Kachardas to Byadgi to see complainant on the subject. Complainant proceeded to Talegaon and it was agreed between the parties that the complainant Kevalchand should marry Pyari on condition that complainant should pay Rs. 5,000 to Panhalal and Chunilal. Kevalchand accordingly paid Rs. 3,000 in cash to Chunilal at Byadgi on 15th July 1921. Thereafter a hundi of Rs. 1,000 was passed on 13th August 1921. This was cashed. Complainant wrote to Pannalal and Chunilal to effect his wedding with Pyari but he was put off on some pretext or other. In the intervatl Pyari was enticed by some body to Poona for marriage with another person but the marriage was prevented by persons who came to know of it. Thereafter an application was made to the District Court by some Marwadi Panchas of Poona to prevent Pyari's marriage with the complainant. Complainant grew anxious and he engaged the services of Ramchandra (accused No. 3) and Budhya (accused No. 4) to get the marriage expedited. It was arranged that if the complainant paid Rs 3,000 more, marriage would be effected in spite of the order of the Court which was pending and the hearing of which was fixed for 21 December 1921. On the 19th December 1921, the bride's party with the bride Pyari was brought to Poona at 9 p.m. by Ramchandra (accused No. 3) and the party proceeded to celebrate the marriage to a temple near the Parwati temple at Poona. The marriage with Pyari was performed. The bride's face was shown to the complainant for identification by Sitabai (accused No. 7). After this complainant was told that he should immediately go back to Bombay and accordingly he accompanied with his newly married wife and Chunilal (accused No. 2), Kashi (accused No. 5) and Budhye (accused No. 4) came to Poona Station at 2 p.m. They returned to Bombay by the morning train. When they reached Bombay Chunilal and other accused left the girl with the complainant and on some pretext left the complainant's house. The girl finding that she was left alone in complainant's house, began to cry and called for her mother. Complainant asked her to remove the veil which she wore, as is the custom among the Marwaris to cover the face by a veil. Immediately the veil was removed, he found that the girl was not the Pyari whom he married. On questioning the girl she told her name to be Hiri and disclosed the plot and told him how the clothes which were on Pyari's person at the time of marriage were put on her body. Complainant finding that he was disgraced and was cheated by the accused charged them with cheating under Sections 419, 420 and 114 of the Indian Penal Code.

The defence of the accused was that the complainant being very anxious for marriage and finding that he could not mary Pyari on account of injunction restraining his marriage with Pyari, married Hiri and took her to Bombay but on going there he discovered that Hiri was born to her mother after the death of her father and so wanted to disclaim the marriage.

The Sessions Judge of Poona acquitted Pyari (No. 2), Hiri (No. 9) and Hiri's mother Bhagubai (No. 8) and convicted all the accused of the offence of cheating by personation under Section 419 and 114 of the Indian Penal Code. In his opinion the marriage of the complainant was actually performed with Pyari and, therefore, the accused could not be convicted of mere cheating under Section 420 of I. P. Code. He sentenced the remaining accused to rigorous imprisonment varying from 5 to 3 months and fine Rs. 500 to 200.

The accused Ramchandra (No. 3) and Sitabai (No. 3) presented applications to the High Court. Their Lordships granted Rule and released the accused on bail.

Mr. Binning with Mr. Jayant G. Rele appeared for the petitioners-accused.

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

WEST-END CINEMA.

"Foolish Wives," the long-heralded photo-play seen last night at the West-End Cinema is the costliest film ever made. The Universal Film Manufacturing Company is said to have expended $1,163,736 and some odd cents, in its making. Expensive sets and the salaries of thousands of "extra" actors did much to swell this total. The money was well spent, however, as the settings are faithful reproductions of the buildings at Monte Carlo and the extras create the true Riviere atmosphere. Fire scenes without equal form one of the punches of this elaborate picture of Monte Carlo, its pleasures and its vices. The fire shows the destruction of a seaside villa. Hand colouring has given a lurid and melodramatic power to the tongues of flame. Even the sparks from the fire engines, and the glare from the fire grates of the engines are shown in natural colours. It is a magnificent real million dollar Universal Production and is booked to run for two weeks.

NOVELTY CINEMA.

The management of the Novelty Cinema have been fortunate enough in being able to offer to their patrons another supremely fine historical Screen Drama of the reign of Napoleon Bonaparte. It is a two-weeks' love story and is the screen version of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous book "Uncle Bernac," the same now announced at the Novelty Cinema under the title of "The Disciple of Napoleon". The picture is excellently got up and is presented with that exquisite perfection as to technique and chronology for which the Eclair Company is so well-known. It is a two-week picture and the first six Chapters will be shown commencing to-day.

CINEMA MAJESTIC.

This week Majestic is showing another new production of The Bharat Cinema Film Co., a picture adaptation of an episode from the Mahabharat. Dooryodhana hides himself in a lake after the death of all his warriors but his hiding place is revealed to Krishna and Bhima who force him to come out and fight an open combat with Bhima. Dooryodhan is killed by the advice of Krishna, and then they proceed to fulfill the vow of Bhima to tie Droupadi's braid. The picture is very lavishly produced and the producers have tried their utmost with success to make the settings fitting to the times of the Mahabharat.

C. P. COUNCIL.

(Associated Press.)

NAGPUR, Nov. 22.

The Central Province Legislative Council reassembled this afternoon, Sir Gangadhar Chitnavis presiding. The Hon. Mr. M. V. Joshi moved that the Court Fees Bill be referred to a Select Committee. He said that the normal deficit of the province was about Rs. 75 lakhs. The retrenchment Committee had proposed a reduction of about Rs. 50 lakhs immediately. Mr. Joshi doubted if all their proposals could be carried out immediately but even assuming that it was possible still there was a deficit of about 25 lakhs. Further the civil judicial administration was not paying its way and there was a general feeling that it should. He contended that further taxation could not be avoided. The Hon. Mr. Kelkar, Minister supported the bill on the ground that the deficit would affect the transferred department.

Messrs. Jayavant, Mahajini and Brahma who were the members of the Retrenchment Committee and, also, Mr. Dravid, strongly supported the bill. Some non-official councillors opposed the bill and contended that the administration of justice must not be made more costly. The discussion lasted the whole day to-day. Eventually the bill was referred to a Select Committee by 36 votes against 17.

A correspondent wires from Delhi:—During the last week Sir William Vincent was the guest at several farewell functions. This afternoon the representatives of the Press with the Government of India entertained him at a luncheon at the Maidens Hotel in appreciation of his services to the Press as the head of the Home Department, a department which is mainly concerned with the administration of the Press and Press Laws in India. The hosts were Mr. E. J. Buck, Mr. A. H. Kingston, Mr. E. Haward, Mr. U. N Sen and Mr. K. C. Roy all of whom had known Sir William for a good many years. The series of entertainments were brought to a close this evening when the Chelmsford Club was "At Home" to its first president. There was a fair gathering which included some members of the Inchcape Committee.

A Yeotmal correspondent wires that "reliable information has been received that Doctor Babasaheb Paranjaye, a prominent leader of Berar, who was sentenced to undergo fifteen months' rigorous imprisonment, under section 1244A. last yead, will be released on the 30th instant from the Hoshangabad jail."

POONA DIST. WAR MEMORIAL.

UNVEILING CEREMONY BY THE GOVERNOR.

(Associated Press.)

POONA, Nov. 23.

The District War Memorial to perpetuate the memories of men of all classes and creeds who went from the city and the interior of the district of Poona to fight for the Empire in the Great War was unveiled by His Excellency the Governor of Bombay this morning, before a large and representative gathering of Poona citizens as well as the members of the Governor's Executive Council, G. O. C., Southern Army, General Sir William Marshall and Lady Marshall, General Climo, Dr. Pranjpye, Minister of Education Department and a large number of military officers and Government officials. H. E. Sir George Lloyd who was accompanied by Lady Lloyd drove up in state escorted by his Body Guards. The party was received by Mr. C. H. Bristow, Collector and his two deputies, who introduced the members of the Executive and the Managing Committees to Their Excellencies. The Guard of Honour composed of the Double Company of the 48th Pioneers gave the royal salute while the band of the Lincolnshire Regiment played the National Anthem. After inspecting the Guard of Honour H. E. the Governor took his seat on the dais in front of the monument, when Mr. Painter rose and requested the Governor to unveil the memorial.

On the conclusion of His Excellency's address the Buglers of the Lincoln's Regiment blew "Last Post."

The unveiled Memorial is a plain obelisk in Agra-white stone standing on the base of a black Deccan trap stone which is encircled by piers of the same, while at each of the four corners stand large electric lamps. It is situated at the junction of four roads just in front of the Sassoon Hospital. The troops then presented arms. Among several wreaths placed at the foot of the Monument were those by the G. O. C. and the officers of the staff of Poona District Lincolnshire Regiment, 3rd Royal Bombay Sappers and Miners, Boy Scouts and Khan Sahib N. Mehta on behalf of the Committee.

THE MISSION OF HELP.

To THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—Now that the Missioners are in India, it would be well for them to rectify many things, inter alia the paucity of Chaplains, priests, missionaries in this vast country which England is trying together with America to Chrisianize. There is not the slightest doubt that an Assistant Indian Bishop is sadly needed in Bombay for vernacular work. It is working well in Madras. The Bishop of Dornakal is handling the work in his jurisdiction in a very efficient manner amongst Indian Caristians in Southern India. The Bishop of Madras has two European Missionary Bishops and one Indian Bishop to assist him. Bishop Palmer is single handed. H ought to suggest the establishment of an Indian Bishopric to help him in Marathi work; There should be an assistant European Bishop also to tour amongst the military and civil population in Belgaum, Ahmednagar and other centres of course there are just now experienced clergy who have done solid work in India, for instance Canons Joshi, King, McKennelly, Archdeacon Hatchell, Canon Rivington and others. A selection might be made from one of these padres; Madras has a larger number of Indian Christians than Bombay. hence two assistant Bishops would do and not three. The St. George's Hospi al should have a Chaplain set apart to work at the hospital church and attend to sick patients who require spiritual comfort in their last moments; what mars the work of the Church is that one man has to attempt too many things. Of course money is needed to support the ministry and without it nothing can be done. To expect a Chaplain to attend to school, office, church, cemetery, hospital, house to house visitation, etc. is rather too much for one man single handed and this is just what is being done now. Why should not the Mission of Help remedy these defects in addition to those already pointed out by railway centres, tea estates, military cantonments, etc.—Yours, etc.,

MADRAS CHILDREN ACT.

(Associated Press.)

MADRAS, Nov. 23.

The Madras Children Act which was passed in 1920 (?) will come into force in the city of Madras from the 1st December next. The main objects of this measure are:—Prevention of imprisonment as penalty in the case of children under fourteen or transportation and avoidable imprisonment in the case of those between 14 and 16 and also to provide machinery by which the children other than those of the criminal tribes who showed tendency to lapse into crime or stood in danger of such fate might be removed from their pernicious surroundings and handed over to the approved custody.

Report on the Administration of the Bombay Boiler Inspection Department for the year 1921-22, shows that of the total number of boilers inspected and certified during the year, 7 were inspected and certified more than once. The increase, as compared with the previous years, in the number of boilers inspected and certified is due to a large number of new boilers offered for inspection during the year under report.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE

Saturday, November 25, 1922.

FIFTY THOUSAND WOMEN.

One-third of the entire mining labour in this country consists of women and there is ample evidence that Government are not in favour of radical reform in regard to their condition. In 1842 the Government of England suppressed the practice of employing women under ground. Colliery-owners were opposed to the reform, but the conscience of the young democracy would not tolerate the nauseating jargon about evolution and revolution. The Government of India are more complaisant, thanks to their engrossing concern for bulk production and vested interests. When, in September, the Government introduced the Bill for amending Mining Laws, their spokesman admitted the injustice of countenancing the practice. There are 50,000 women employed in the mining industry and it requires no delaying committee of experts to prove the vile consequences of the system. Mr. Innes' defence was in the form of a cynical compromise with evil. It was "impracticable" to deprive the industry of one-third of its productive force, and Mr. Innes remarked that Government would continue mindful that reform must be slowly introduced "without injuring the industry"; step by step, as the Moderates observe in their favourite formula. It is impossible to limit labour without injuring an industry, for demand in all countries moves ahead of the supply. Mr. Innes' promise, therefore, amounts to the proposition that 50,000 male labourers should be prepared to volunteer for the emancipation of the women, however iniquitous the system may be on its own merits. "Without injuring the industry" is the governing condition of reform, according to the Government of India. The test in other countries is that an industry must face the consequences of doing without the illicit employment of labour, and that is why all other countries in the world prohibit the engagement of women for hazardous occupations underground. To repeat ourselves, coal must not be dear if it can be prevented by rendering flesh and blood cheap! The claim that the outturn should be proved constant as a first condition, is equivalent to a denial of justice. To declare that the health of the race and domestic decency should be subservient to the pleasure of the employer, is a little too revolting for even this country. While the Government of India are pleased to decree that production is of paramount importance, the people are perverse enough to hold that health and decency are of paramount importance. It represents a difference in the valuation of things which re-enforces our claim that the land is not for the classes alone but for the masses as well. With bureaucratic elegance, Mr. Innes announced last September that "when the time was ripe" for the entire prohibition of women from working underground, the Local Governments would carry out the necessary reform. Now, also for 50,000 Indian women, the time is reported to be unripe. The time is always ripe for the suppression of practices that are fundamentally vile and brutal. When the first slave was seized, the time was ripe for a categoric law of emancipation. When Englishwomen were forbidden to hew and carry coal in the subterranean shelter offered by the employers, there was an immediate phase of loss which was more than recompensed by a cleaner bill of national health and morals.

The agents of priority and usurpation, popularly known as masters, sometimes pretend that the women relish their enforced patronage and would be shocked if deprived of "livelihood." We would remind them that it was Lord Curzon who once bluntly avowed that women and children were employed not for any domestic advantage but for cheapness. They represented cheaper labour. Such being the case, we may leave the Pecksniffs alone. It happens that even close on the maternity period, the women find themselves toiling in the depths. The muster-roll contains small breaks, since the women have to deny themselves the comforts of open sun and air, let alone rest, which God's creatures require in the trial of motherhood. The custom has resulted in wrecked health and stunted off-spring. The birth-rate and infant mortality of our coal-mines should melt even the hearts of those who deem the weighment of coal the paramount interest. The traffic is wholly repugnant to the tradition of Indian womanhood. It debases home-life, since mining labour, exhausting as it is, represents but one-third of the functions of the female wage-slave. The unnatural labour debases her; but tradition and innate virtue have not yet unsexed her and she has to perform the duties of a housewife and a mother. What margin of health and leisure has she, when fleeing to the house she has to nurse the neglected child and with jaded energy begin her household-day, cooking and toiling?

A merciful Government intends stipulating that the under-ground labourer should not be worked for more than 64 hours a week. There is in the law apparently no restriction for each day, so that there might be over-exertion one day for the sake of a little respite of prostration, the next. And how does this inhuman system—which conserves our coal supplies and allegedly increases the pseudo-national dividend—affect the men themselves? For women it is necessarily a torture of health; for children the separation means a cruel injury which cannot be entered in a ledger. The physique is tormented into waste, though, thank God, we are still far from the consummation of poultry-yard morality brought about in some of our Colonial farms of labour. To the men, the chattel-traffic of their women, means moral and material disaster. It may not be known in the Chelmsford and Willingdon Clubs, but sceptics ought to go and study for themselves the decadent tendencies of the system in the poor miner's homelife. It has been stated that 75 per cent. of the men find entertainment in the grog-shops, while their partners in life hasten, after eventide, to lay out comforts and sustenance for the famished arrivals. This they have to do, dull as they are themselves with overwork. The men are diverted from the home, for the evening offers them no tidy welcome. The exertion in the mines is far greater than that endured in tea-gardens and textile factories. In the latter cases, there is greater interest and daylight associations. We think it hardly necessary to pursue the distressing facts of life entailed by the herding of our women in this inhuman manner, for under-ground labour. But the Government's hands are fettered by interests which cry that "the reforms must be slowly introduced without injuring the industry." The traffic ought to be stopped at once; but it cannot be done till the oligarchies are deposed in favour of a representative India.

A SERMON IN ECONOMY.

Much mirth is derived in Moderate and Anglo-Indian quarters from the fiction that Congress leaders amass money and dissipate it in secret profligacy. Dr. Ansari recently nailed some of the lies to the counter, lies with which M. L. A's were regaled in the Central Aman Sabha. Sermons on economy come with bad grace from the members of a bureaucracy who, by unexampled waste and self-regarding ordinance, have sent the country bankrupt. As for the Moderates, recent revelations have shown that many are, while vigorously co-operating, not above adding to the spoils of office. The scandal of Travelling Allowances was hushed up in well-known province, just when it threatened to open another roll of dirty linen in respect of wagons, contracts, and son-in-law settlements. Let that pass. To realise the bad faith of our mentors, we would draw the attention of the public to the scale of expenditure shown respectively by the Fiscal Commission and the Civil Disobedience Inquiry Committee. Flunkey politicians have not scrupled to say that Nationalist leaders batten on public funds, travelling in saloon cars and eating delicacies while the Ministerial patriots waste themselves to a shadow, through sacrifice. The Fiscal Commission cost us the following for their cold-weather spin:—

	Rs.
Salaries (members and staff)	2,22,500.
Travelling.	81,470.
Printing.	13,200.
Contingencies.	9,330.
Total.	3,26,500.

Compare with it the bill of the Civil Disobedience Inquiry Committee. For their tour all over India and incidental necessities, the bill has come to Rs. 12,140! Theirs was an arduous All-India tour, in the course of which they had to examine more than 400 witnesses. In comparison, the Fiscal Commission had a luxury-picnic. Their travelling and alleged daily allowances alone, came to nearly seven times the total bill of the Civil Disobedience Committee. In many places which they visited, the Fiscal authorities were private guests getting their "rest and feed" by courtesy. The Civil Disobedience Committee were satisfied with meagre conveniences, but if they had the conscience and the funds available for bureaucratic standards of expenditure, their bill should have exceeded that of the Fiscal Commission. And still we find M.L.A'S smiling complacently when Nationalist leaders are vilified by well-paid mandarins, on the score of waste and even defalcation! The Fiscal Commission cost the country twenty-seven times as much as the Civil Disobedience Inquiry Committee. Bear that fact in mind!

Notes of the Day

Triumph of Non-Violence.

Recounting, in "New India," the experiences of her recent tour, Mrs. Besant remarks with satisfaction that because "N.-C.-O.s no longer break up meetings," "it seems as though the party of violence, composed almost entirely of lads and roughs, were weakening, and as though the N. C. Os. were subsiding into a normal political party" and from "the perfectly orderly assemblages" she addressed, she infers that "it (the non-cooperation movement) has sunk into lethargy." Mrs. Besant is welcome to draw her own conclusion, but a more dispassionate observer of the situation would have been pleased to mark that the gospel of non-violence insistently preached by Mahatma Gandhi and his followers has permeated that class of people whom Mrs. Besant is pleased to characterise as "lads and roughs". Does Mrs. Besant believe that the vitality of the movement can be proved by disorderly behaviour at public meetings? Then she must have seen enough of it at Tinnevelly where the students recently refused to hear her. If Mrs. Besant wanted to be just to the movement, would she have failed to note and proclaim the true significance of the spectacle of an assemblage, a greater portion of which was dressed in khadi, hearing her patiently and with the calm dignity becoming the followers of the Mahatma?

National Education.

The unfurling of the banner of national revolt has led in every country to the boycott of Government educational institutions, for, as Mahatma Gandhi said, an alien Government always consolidates its hold on the people with the help of its schools and colleges. The nationality movement in Hungary—the classic land of non-co-operation—led to the foundation of the National Academy of Science, which is still a celebrated centre of learning; and almost the first thing the Sinn Fein organisation—then a cultural movement—did was to found the National University of Dublin. National Education had an honoured place in the fourfold programme of Lokmanya Tilak and it was inevitable that when the Congress launched its non-cooperation programme it should call on the student population to leave Government educational institutions. The response of the students, though slow, was not disappointing. Unfortunately, political pre-occupation and the orgy of repression which removed many a stalwart worker from the field came in the way of building a proper edifice in place of the tattering, antediluvian structure. A few universities, notable among them being the National Muslim University of Aligarh, the Gujarat Vidyapith, and the Tilak Maharashtra Vidyapith, were started with the nucleus of a few national colleges and schools. The object of the movement being primarily political, and any educational institute which threw up Government grant and was freed from that control became ipso facto national. The Bardoli programme with its emphasis on the constructive aspect of non-cooperation has introduced a new orientation into the scheme of National Education. Clause 3 of the Bardoli Resolution runs thus:—

To organise national schools.

Note:—No picketing of Government schools should be resorted to, but reliance should be placed upon the superiority of national schools in all vital matters to draw students from Government and aided schools."

In other words, as Deshbandhu C. R. Das says, it is the educational aspect of the movement that has to be prominently borne in mind. It is desirable at this juncture that the best brains of the country should concentrate on this problem and by their co-operation lighten the task of the National Education Conference which is to be held before the Congress meets at Gaya this year.

Wanted: A Clear Lead.

We have before us a draft scheme drawn up by the staff of the National Medical College and the National Arts College, Bombay, who suggest the formation of Boards of National Education in every province with financial committees attached to them to collect funds to meet the needs of institutions under their charge. Boards have a tendency to degenerate into soulless organisations and it would be far better if every Congress province appointed a Minister of Education, with an advisory council, to look after national schools and colleges. The word "national" should be clearly defined, and recognition by the Congress should be insisted on in the case of all such institutes. This implies an obligation on the part of the Congress to render financial assistance. As regards the number of schools or colleges each province can maintain, it will depend primarily on the finances of the Provincial Congress Committee and secondly on the enthusiasm for National Education in that province. As a matter of policy the Congress should not start a new Arts College in any province. "Greater attention should be paid to adopt courses which will make students self-supporting. Even if only professional or technical colleges are started, (we should like the Congress to start only such colleges), provision should be made for the cultural side of education at least for a few hours a week." Any scheme of National Education worth the name will take note of the cultural heritage and environment of the people, but the curriculum of our National schools should lay particular emphasis on Mahatma Gandhi's great idea of making education, as far as possible, self-supporting. It should call into play the hand and the heart, which the present wooden system of education sacrifices to the exclusive cultivation of the brain.

The Last Struggle.

The allocation to different wards of seats for purposes of election to the Municipal Corporation is a task beset with considerable difficulty. But, in recommending the adoption of the allocation made in the schedule attached to the new Municipal Act, the Committee of the Corporation cannot be said to have considered the claims of the different wards in a spirit of fairness and impartiality, and the Municipal Corporation aggravated the injustice by anticipating the decision on the subject of the Special meeting to be held on Monday. The ruling of the President that the report of the Committee would not be before the Special Meeting can hardly be justified on any but technical grounds, having regard to the fact that the Special Meeting is to consider the very question on which the Committee has reported. However, as Mr. Nariman appositely said, the debate represented the last struggle of a dying Corporation. The question of the redistribution of seats and also of preparing a complete and accurate electoral roll will have to be taken up soon by the new Corporation.

Women Industrial Workers.

In the course of an interesting address at the Rotary Club, Dr. D. F. Curjel of the Women's Medical Service said the other day: "Some years ago, when working in Indian cities, I learnt that it was neither possible nor practical to consider the subject of maternity and child welfare as an entity dissociated from the various environmental and economic factors which exert so great an influence on the lives of Indian women and children; for instance, the problems of bad housing and domestic sanitation affect the welfare not only of the men folk, but of every single member of a family, and from the solution all will benefit." The truth of her observation is beyond dispute but judging from her speech it is evident that her investigations of the conditions in which women workers in Indian cities live, which are affected to a large extent by the condition of male workers, have been far too perfunctory to supply accurate data. Speaking of Bombay, Ahmedabad and Sholapur, she says:

"Creches or day nurseries are organised in the mill compounds, where working mothers may leave their young children to be cared for, while they themselves are in the mill. I understand the managers have found that under these conditions the women come more willingly to work, and work more steadily while in the mill. The mothers are happy that their children should be cared for, and the creches are well patronised. In certain mills, in addition, a scheme of maternity benefit has been established."

Welfare Work.

The report of the Lady Doctor appointed in connexion with maternity benefit to women workers, published in the "Labour Gazette," on the other hand, says that only three mills in Bombay provide creches, and even these are not well patronised, being very unsatisfactorily conducted. As for maternity benefit only two groups of mills in Bombay, the Tata and the Currimbhoy, give maternity benefit to their workers. If there are similar discrepancies in Dr. Curjel's investigations in other parts of India, their utility will be largely discounted though the picture presented by her is not particularly rosy. In Bengal, each mill has a doctor but very few women avail themselves of his services. The only attendance at labour is that of the dai and, having regard to the paucity of midwives and prejudice which cannot be ignored, it would be well if the professional dais were made to attend a short course in midwifery in our large cities. Women doctors and health visitors should be engaged by all the mills if the enormous mortality among infants is to be checked. "In many cases the quarters provided in a mill compound permit of little privacy, and where there was evidence of a more real family life, I found in most cases the family lived outside in a bazaar or bustie." Evidently there are other warehouses besides the chawls of the Bombay Improvement Trust. As for the statement that much is done to make women workers content, on the tea estates in Bengal, we cannot take it without a grain of salt. How far can a planter in Bengal differ from his neighbouring confrere in Assam? Nagpur alone seems to show a fairly good record of welfare work. "In addition to a creche sewing classes and health talks are held for the mothers in the intervals of [illegible] work, and a midwifery service [illegible] started, which is much used by the women workers."

PARLIAMENT.

OPENED BY KING

REFERENCE TO NEAR EAST TANGLE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Their Majesties opened the Parliament in State, this morning, with the usual ceremonial. They were loudly cheered by large crowds, who lined the route to Westminster. The weather was dull.

The King's Speech was as follows: "The Constitution of the Irish Free State having been passed by the House of Parliament established under the Irish Free State Agreement Act of the Last Session sitting, as constitutional Assembly, and it being required by the terms of that Act, that Constitution come into force by December 6th, I have summoned you to meet in order that the legislation, necessary to give effect to the constitution and make provisions consequential on the establishment of the Irish Free State, may be immediately submitted for your approval.

"The Estimates for the Public Services will be submitted to the House of Commons."

"The state of trade and employment continues to cause me deep concern. The ameliorative measures, proposed by the late Government, will be re-examined, and you will be asked to provide for their continuance and extension and to guarantee a loan in accordance with the League of Nations' scheme for the restoration of Austria.

"I hope, at the Conference at Lausanne, efforts of my Ministers acting in wholehearted co-operation with the representatives of the Allies will result in the establishment of peace and the security of the inhabitants of the regions—recently the scene of so much suffering".

MR. MACDONALD'S CRITICISM.

PREMIER'S REPLY.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

In the House of Commons in the debate on the address, the mover and the seconder dwelt on the peril of unemployment and a change in the position in Ireland.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald criticised the reference to unemployment in the King's Speech as not revealing a real appreciation of the terrible tragedy. He approved of Mr. Bonar Law's intentions to end the dictatorship of the Premier, but he hoped he would reconsider his refusal to see the unemployed. He demanded a fuller statement of the Government's foreign policy. The Labour Party desired to end tinkering and patching.

PREMIER'S REPLY.

Mr. Bonar Law, replying, and referring to the criticisms of a change in his attitude to Ireland, said that times had changed, and people had changed. The Government intended to do nothing to give an excuse for going back on the Treaty. He intended to take the first Irish Bill on Monday, and hoped to conclude on Wednesday.

He persisted in his refusal to see the unemployed deputation which would be a precedent detracting from the responsibilities of constitutional Ministers. Moreover, if a Government statement regarding unemployment was possible it should not be made elsewhere than in the House of Commons.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

As regards foreign affairs, little information was available on account of the delicate negotiations proceeding. He denied that it was secret diplomacy to leave the negotiators free from interference of the Press and Parliament. Our aim was peace, and up to now there was every prospect of getting it.

Referring to Mesopotamia, he said we had certain obligations which we could not evade but the Government was considering them.

MR. ASQUITH.

Mr. Asquith said the King's Speech was more free from embarrassing commitments and promises than any he had ever heard. He believed that the Government would have the support of the whole nation if in addition to the Allies the area of discussion at Lausanne was windened to cover all nations, great and small, who were interested in question. Thus could be evolved a settlement on a broad foundation.

"NOT OUT FOR OIL"!

PREMIER ON MESOPOTAMIAN POLICY

LONDON, Nov. 23.

In his speech to-day replying to criticisms on the King's speech, Mr. Bonar Law said that Mesopotamia was an obsession with the Labour Party. He assured the House that the British did not want to stay in Mesopotamia for any oil that was there; Moreover the British system of Government did not lend itself to getting advantages for ourselves from countries with which we associated in that way.

"OMINOUS" FOREIGN SITUATION.

LORD GREY'S WARNING

LONDON, Nov. 23.

In the House of Lords' debate on the Address, Lord Grey said he was not sure that people raised the ominous character of the foreign situation. We were not far off and had probably reached the point at which Russia, Turkey and Germany were forming a combination. The lesson should

MR. ERSKINE CHILDERS.

SUFFERS EXTREME PENALTY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Mr. Erskine Childers has been executed.

Mr. Erskine Childers was born in 1870 and educated at Haileybury and Trinity College, Cambridgeshire. He served in the European war with the R. N. H. S. and rose to the rank of Lt.-Comdr. He was a writer of no mean accomplishments and published a number of works on subjects like the Framework of Home Rule, Times History of the S. African War, German Influence on British Cavalry, War and the Arme Blanche etc.

His arrest along with that of seven other Irishmen was the result of a "policy of direct action" adopted by the Minister of Defence, Irish Provisional Government. The trials were held in secret in the Military Courts, which have been functioning almost simultaneously with the campaign of drastic action taken against the scattered Irregulars. Seven weeks ago, a proclamation was issued by the Prov. Government offering pardon to those surrendering, and it was announced that the military courts would be established after the period. The charge against all the accused, was presumably one of possessing revolvers without proper authority, though the charge against Mr. Childers was not disclosed even when the case against him was concluded at the Portobello Barracks on November 17.

The Master of the Rolls, ordered the sentence of the Military Courts to be suspended pending the hearing of a 'Habeas Corpus' application which ended in a matter of constitutional technicality regarding the validity of the Free States' new authority.

The death sentence led the Republicans to threaten and even perpetrate reprisals.

MR. ERSKINE CHILDERS.

APPLICATION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS FAILS.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

The application for a writ of Habeas Corpus, made on behalf of Mr. Erskine Childers, has failed.

EXISTENCE OF "A STATE OF WAR."

Referring to the Habeas Corpus application, the Master of the Rolls was of opinion that there was overwhelming evidence to prove the contention that a state of war existed. The provisional Government was now de jure as well as de facto. No Government could exist unless it was backed by physical force. Mr. Childers was appealing for the protection of a civil court, but its jurisdiction was ousted by the state of war which he himself had helped to produce.

Mr. Childer's Counsel declared that the Provisional Government was legally unable to impose a sentence of deportation but the Master of the Rolls said sentence apparently had not yet been pronounced.

8 MORE APPLICATIONS REFUSED.

The Habeas Corpus application was also refused in the case of eight other convicted men whose names were not disclosed.

RELIEF FOR VICTIMS OF MCGRIGOR'S BANK FAILURE.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Honourable Walter Guinness, (Under-Secretary of State for War,) in the House of Commons, announced that supplementary estimates would be presented to enable substantial relief, estimated at ten shillings in the pound, to be given to sufferers from the failure of McGrigor's Bank, accounts of which originated through army connexion with the firm. This will be additional to anything realised from the existing assets of the firm, which are estimated will produce over five shillings in the pound.

PUBLICITY OFFICE IN LONDON FOR KENYA.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

The Colonial Office state that the published report of the decision to open a publicity office in London for Kenya was premature. The Kenya Government had suggested such an office, but the Secretary of State had deferred his decision pending the receipt of full information regarding its intentions.

ALLIED CONTROL OF FICERS ASSAULTED.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Berlin.—British and French officers belonging to the inter-Allied Commission of Control arrived at Ingoldstadt, Bavaria, yesterday to inspect the munitions depot and were attacked with clubs and stones by a band of civilians hiding in the vicinity. A British officer received injuries to his face. The crowd closed the station gates to prevent the officers' car from escaping and threatened the chauffeur with death when he attempted to start the engine.

CABLE ITEM.

Birmingham.—It is now believed there are a hundred dead in the mine explosion.

Paris.—The Senate Army Commission has decided by 16 to 15 votes, in favour of fixing the period of military service at 18 months instead of two years, as till the present time.

The Independent Liberals have unanimously elected Sir John Simon, Sessional Chairman.

Sir Bertram Mackennal has been elected Royal Academician. George W. Lambert and Mrs. Annie Swynnerton are made Academy Associates.

Marseilles.—Owing to damage to boilers the British liner "Tuscania", homeward bound from Bombay, has been obliged to put in here and must remain a week until the damage is repaired. Two hundred passengers have been landed and leave for London this evening.

WESTERN THRACE.

TURKS ASK FOR SELF--DETERMINATION.

A SENSATIONAL DISCLOSURE.

TENSION NOT YET RELAXED.

(From Our Special Correspondent at the Peace Conference)

LAUSANNE, 6-15 p.m. Nov. 23.

This morning Ismet Pasha handed in his memorandum in reply, insisting on the plebiscite for Western Thrace, and the incorporation of Kara-Aghach as a quarter of Ardrianople. To facilitate Bulgaria's access to the Aegean Sea, the memorandum consents to the internationalisation of the railway from Adrianople to Dede-Aghach. The reading out of the protocol of the Mudania Armistice, in which Generals Harrington, Mombelli Charpy, in the names of their respective Governments, acknowledged Turkey's right to Kara-Aghach, made a great impression on the Conference. To the statement made by Venizelos that a million refugees will create insuperable difficulties for the Greek Government, Ismet replied that the figure was exaggerated and that a million and half Turks in Anatolia have been deprived of shelter by Greek devastation without military necessity. It would be premature to say that the tension is relieved before knowing the reply of the bloc manoeuvred by Lord Curzon.

RUSSIAN DELEGATION AT LAUSANNE.

SOVIET ATTITUDE DEFINED.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Lausanne.—M. Vorovsky, the head of the Russian Commercial Delegation at Rome, arrived here to-day, and stated he would ask to participate in the Conference on the same footing as Bulgaria was represented. He declared that Soviet was absolutely opposed to the Capitulations. He said the Russian Delegation would be composed of M.M. Chicherin, and Rakovsky and himself. Russia would support all Turkish claims but could not agree to placing the Straits under the control of the League of Nations.

ISMET PASHA'S "BLUNDER."

SOLID BALKAN COMBINATION CREATED.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

The "Manchester Guardian" Lausanne correspondent, says that to the alarm of the French and the delight of the Greeks Ismet Pasha, yesterday, committed a blunder of adhering to Angora's extreme demands, i.e., the 1913 frontiers with a plebiscite in West Thrace. The immediate effect was the creation of a solid Balkan combination of Greek, Jugo-Slav and Rumanian Delegations.

The speech of Venizelos was in sharp contrast to Ismet Pasha's bad diplomacy. It accepted, without question, the loss for Greece of everything gained in the Great War, only demanding that the Allies should not go back on their policy expressed in September, and that Greece should not be further stripped. The correspondent concludes that those who fear an extension of Turkish power in Europe may trust to Turkish diplomacy.

TURKO-BULGARIAN BOUNDARY LINE.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Lausanne.—The Subcommission dealing with the frontiers of Thrace under General Weygand have reached a virtual agreement with regard to the demilitarised zones be established between Turkey and Bulgaria and are discussing the question of an outlet to the Aegean for Bulgaria, in which connexion it is proposed, to create a neutral corridor to be administered by a commission composed of the interested countries under a President to be elected by the League of Nations. The Turkish proposals for the settlement of the Thracian question comprise besides the cession of Karagatch to Turkey and a plebiscite in West Thrace, demilitarisation of the zone on both sides of Maritza, the sovereignty of Turkey being safeguarded. The details re to be settled by a Special Commission lso the creation of an economic corridor to he Aegean following Maritza for the benefit of Bulgaria.

APPEAL OF "PERSIAN ARMENIANS"

LONDON, Nov. 24.

A telegram from Teheran to the Conference at Lausanne signed "Persian Armenians" says that the remnant of the Turkish Armenians are condemned to death by the historic murderers of the race. They wait anxiously the decision of the Conference whether they are to live or die. hey apparently intimated that they expected the verdict of Conference would be that they should live independently if the object of the Conference were "to obtain permanent peace."

INVESTITURE OF NEW KHALIFA.

ANGORA DELEGATION ARRIVES IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

A Delegation of 19 deputies from the Angora National Assembly have arrived in Constantinople for the investiture of the new Caliph. They were welcomed by a large crowd.

MILITARY TRIBUNALS IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

ORTHODOX CLERGY PUT UP FOR TRIAL.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Constantinople.—A despatch says that the Turkish newspaper "Akoham" announces the imminent reopening in Constantinople of the famous Kemalist Courts Martial known as Independent Tribunals. The paper adds that the first accused to appear before the Courts will be a number of orthodox clergy.

REDUCTION OF CUSTOMS DUTIES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Constantinople.—Customs duties on luxury articles have been reduced from fifteen to five times the old duties and importation of alcoholic liquors is now authorised, subject to a duty of twenty per cent. The Turkish authorities have requested the Allied High Commissioners to withdraw their controllers from Turkish and foreign banks, stating that all financial establishments must be subject to Turkish legislation.

MONTAGU'S SILVER REPORT.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Messrs. Montagu's silver report says that on the whole the market has presented rather a tired appearance after a somewhat severe fall during the last few weeks. There have been a few symptoms both from India and from China of attempts to sound whether the bottom of the setback has been reached at the present time; but the way in which parity of prices in India and China keep below those ruling in London, and the fact that Indian bazars have from time to time re-sold the purchases previously made, do not yet give much hope for any real solid ground. The Continent has not been active, but America is ripe for selling at any considerable advance.

JALLIANWALA BAGH MEMORIAL.

PROGRESS OF WORK.

AMRITSAR, Nov. 21.

Dr. Satyapal wires from Amritsar: It gives me great pleasure to find on my return after a year's incarceration a change for the better in the appearance of the Jallianwala Bagh. The well has been cleaned and beautifully repaired. A water pump has been put up and a motor engine will soon be set up to draw water for irrigating the Bagh. Beautiful grassy plots have been laid out. The roads are being repaired and metalled. New gates have been erected and further repairs are in progress and it is expected that very soon much of the work in hand will be completed and then a more elaborate scheme will be taken in hand. A very pretty pucca platform has been erected for the purpose of public meetings. I now request all the donors who have not yet fulfilled their promises to kindly pay the promised amount immediately. The bagh in order to be a fitting monument to the sacred memory of the martyrs of India would require a large sum of money. I therefore, make bold to remind the philanthropic and generous donors to redeem their promises and to send their contributions to the Secretary. A balance sheet of the Jallianwala Bagh Fund is ready and is being despatched to all the donors and other gentlemen. In case one is needed it can be had from the Secretary, Jallianwala Bagh.

A Vizagapatam message of November 23, says:—

Yesterday afternoon His Excellency the Governor of Madras opened the conference convened for discussing the Andhra University scheme and the question of its location. Mr. Patro, Education Minister and Mr. R. R. Grieve, Director of Public Instruction also attended the conference.

M. CLEMENCEAU IN U. S.

PLEA FOR ENFORCING VERSAILLES TREATY

STRONG AMERICAN CRITICISM.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

LONDON, Nov. 24.

New York.—Mr. Clemenceau's first speech of his tour through America was delivered in the crowded Metropolitan Opera house here. M. Clemenceau asserted that Germany was preparing for another war and he urged America to join France and Britain and enforce the Versailles treaty.

The newspaper comments on the speech are unfavourable. They declare that France will secure peace more effectively by implements of peace than by implements of war.

DISCUSSION IN SENATE.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Washington.—The speech has created a furore in the lobbies of the Congress. Senator Borah declared that M. Clemenceau himself was chiefly responsible for the misery due to the destructive terms of the Versailles treaty. Senator Norris said that American opposition to entangling alliances should settle the matter. Subsequently the speech was debated in the senate. Senator Hitchock described Germany as on the verge of insurrection as a result of the French reparations policy, which was a policy of war. Senator Borah said that M. Clemenceau's attitude to America was unfair and ungrateful. The Republican Sterling defended M. Clemenceau.

CRITICISM WELCOMED.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

New York.—Interviewed en route for Boston, M. Clemenceau said he welcomed criticism and said that that was what he had come for.

FRANCE & WASHINGTON AGREEMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Paris.—Interviewed by the "Chicago Tribun" M. Leygues, Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of Chamber, declared that the Committee would report against the ratification of the Washington agreement. If the Chamber ratified the Treaty it would be subject to so many reservations that the situation as accepted at Washington would be completely modified. France would refuse to agree to naval equality with Italy.

NEW PARTITION OF OIL FIELDS.

U. S. TO GET 25 PER CENT SHARE.

LONDON, Nov. 22.

According to the Paris edition of the "New York Herald", negotiations are proceeding in London regarding a new partition of oilfields.

In connexion with the Lausanne Conference, the paper asserts that the Royal Dutch, the Anglo-Persian and French interests, who divided the output under the San Remo Agreement, are discussing reduction of individual shares in order to permit American interests to participate on a twenty-five per cent basis.

FIRST COMMISSION APPOINTS SUB-COMMISSION.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Lausanne.—The First Commission of the Conference, to-day, appointed a sub-commission to consider, amongst other things, the establishment of a demilitarised zone on the East Thracean frontier, and endeavour to arrange a Bulgarian outlet to the Aegean Sea.

GRAHAMSTOWN DRAWS WITH M. C. C.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Grahamstown (South Afrira).—Grahamstown have scored 132 for 9 wickets and declared. M.C.C. scored 350 for 5 when stumps were drawn. Sandham made 124, Fender 60, and Mead 93 not out. The match has, therefore, been drawn.

ADMIRAL BRISTOL GOES TO LAUSANNE.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Constantinople.—Admiral Bristol, the American High Commissioner, is leaving this morning for Lausanne to act as associate observer on behalf of the United States.

DR. ADAN BEY'S NEW APPOINTMENT.

Constantinople. The Angora National Assembly has decided to appoint Doctor Adan Bey, vice-President of the Assembly, as diplomatic representative of Angora at Constantinople. Selahed Dinadil will be entrusted with military questions.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF KING OF RUMANIA.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

A Bucharest message, received in Paris, states that the King of Rumania, returning from a hunt in Transylvania, has escaped from an attempt made on his life. The railway line was destroyed and the train preceding the one in which the King was to travel was derailed. The interference with the line was apparently intended to effect the wrecking of the royal train.

ENTRY INTO COUNCILS.

MR TYEBJI URGES BOYCOTT

DISCUSSION CONTINUES IN A. I. C. C. MEETING.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LATER.

Mr. J. M. Sen Gupta who spoke in favour of the resolution complained at the outset that its supporters had been hit below the belt. It had been said that those who drafted it had been guilty of diplomatic dishonesty. If that signified anything it signified insincerity and he repudiated that charge and regarded the statement that the resolution said something different from what was intended as unworthy of consideration. The speaker then proceeded to deal with the objections which had been raised. He thought there need be no difficulty about asking the electorate to vote for Non-Cooperators. If the latter complained that they would follow the mandate of the Congress and see that people were not oppressed he considered there was reasonable expectation that Non-Cooperators would obtain a majority. Dealing with the argument that there should be no talk of changing the programme so long as Mr. Gandhi and others were in jail, Mr. Sen Gupta reminded the opponents of the resolution that Mr. Gandhi had told them not to consider persons inside the jail when taking action on behalf of those outside and Mr. Gandhi would be the first to blame them if they did so. It had been said that standing for Councils was cooperation but what they had to look for was the intention behind it. The Congress had given permission for written statements to be filed in civil and criminal cases. They cooperated voluntarily in buying postage stamps and they were cooperating voluntarily or involuntarily every minute of their lives. They could not absolutely non-cooperate so long as they lived in India and that placed the objection that entering Councils was technical Non-Cooperation out of court.

Maulana Syed Sulaiman Nadwi supporting the resolution said that from the point of view of religion entering Councils was not cooperation. From political point of view they had to consider what work lay before Non-Cooperators in future. Those who opposed entering Councils agreed that the country was not prepared for civil disobedience and he asked what programme they intended to place before the country. Mere opposition to one programme without suggesting any alternative was not giving a lead to the country.

MRS. NAIDU'S OPPOSITION.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu strongly opposed the resolution. She would like to see political life as interwoven with spirituality as warp with woof. They were inseparable and that was the real ideal of the movement for India. Mrs. Naidu also spoke against the proposal from practical point of view pointing out that it contained no programme. She added that she preferred to be in the invincible minority that made history rather than in the disintegrated majority not sure of their own intellectual or moral convictions. The resolution was supported and opposed by other speakers and at 9 o'clock discussion not being concluded, the committee adjourned until to-morrow morning.

MR DIXIT RESIGNS DY. PRESIDENTSHIP.

REASON UNKNOWN.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NAGPUR, Nov. 23.

The resignation of Mr. Dixit, the former Deputy President of the Central Provinces Legislative Council has taken most people here by surprise. So far as one could gather nothing that happened in the Council alone could have been the cause of his resignation. The motion for carrying into immediate effect all unanimous recommendations of the Retrenchment Committee was brought up before the Council by Mr. Dixit as one of the most important subjects which the House could consider. But before the discussion had proceeded twenty minutes Mr. Dixit moved for a closure which the House rejected at once, Mr. Dixit could hardly count even half a dozen votes which supported him. The President thereupon declared the motion lost and probably under the supposition that the case was quite clear did not grant the division asked for.

The members of the Council do not yet seem to know clearly what it was that made Mr. Dixit resign. Mr. Dixit's resignation has been accepted by the Government and the House will proceed to elect another Deputy President tomorrow.

RANGOON COUNCIL ELECTION.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

RANGOON, Nov. 23.

In the Legislative Council election, Rangoon, general constituencies have returned three moderates and one G.C.B.A. candidate. The Indian constituencies have returned one Indian Christian, one Hindu who is a labour candidate, one Mahomedan and one Parsee, the last two are Barristers. The per centage of votes polled ranged between 25 and 40. A moderate defeated the G.C.B.A. candidate at Prome.

Official and Personal.

Mr. C. W. E. Cotton, Director of Industries, Madras has left for England being relieved by Mr. E. F. Thomas, late Collector of Malabar.

Mr. Macmichael, the newly appointed Commissioner for Malabar will, it is understood, preside over the Committee to decide the question of compensation to the sufferers in the Malabar rebellion. (A. P.)

RAILWAYMEN'S GRIEVANCES.

"RACIALISM MUST BE ABOLISHED."

"THIRD-CLASS PASSENGERS' DISGRACEFUL ACCOMMODATION."

MR. ANDREWS' ABLE PLEA FOR EQUALITY.

CONFERENCE AT BOMBAY.

Mr. C. F. Andrews emphasised three great issues in the presidential address he delivered at the Second All-India Railwaymen's Conference holding its session at the Workingmen's Institute, Parel.

He pointed out:—"In the Indian Railway system to-day racialism is rampant. . . . Racialism must be done away with as rapidly as possible, and the pace must be determined at each stage by what is feasible and practical in the eyes of fair-minded men on both sides. Those who have special privileges to-day may well ask for time for readjustment, but they cannot possibly ask that the present racial inequalities should continue indefinitely."

Referring to the second issue, he said:—"But it must be quite clearly recognised, that the vicious system of the past must go, and that in the near future Indian railways must be Indian managed and Indian run, and the economic scale of pay must be suited to a country which is as poor as India is to-day. The whole system from top to bottom must be suited to the economics of India and not to that of any other country."

Proceeding further Mr. Andrews stated:—"No economic system of railway administration in a poor country, such as India is, ought to allow such huge profits to be made out of the third class passenger traffic and then to give them in return such disgraceful accommodation. . . . . I say to-day emphatically from intimate experience of the life of the poor that many of the railway employees on whose faithful work the safety of the public depends are being starved in body and mind owing to the paucity of their pay."

Concluding his address he remarked:—"There can be no question at all that the railway employees suffer enormously at the present time, because they are faced by a Railway Board which represents the unification of the railway administration of the whole of India while there is no Board which represents the unification of the interests of Railway Labour."

The second session of the All-India Railwaymen's Conference was held on Friday at the Workingmen's Institute, Parel, Mr. C. F. Andrews presiding.

There were delegates from different parts of India who gave a hearty and enthusiastic reception to Mr. Andrews on his arrival at the Institute's hall.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

After having offered most cordial welcome to the Delegates Mr. Baptista, Chairman of the Reception Committee, proceeded to say:—

Now, comrades, permit me to congratulate you upon your good fortune in capturing the Rev. Mr. Andrews for your President. In him you will find an excellent friend, philosopher and guide, and yet, when a friend of mine heard that Mr. Andrews was going to preside, he came to me in some trepidation and said: "Well, Kaka, is your Conference going to be a real Railway Conference, or is it going to be Divine Service with Father Andrews officiating. And is he going to preach the Gospel according to St. Mark or according to Karl Marx." Well, comrades, I do not know but I am confident, whether it be St. Mark or Karl Marx, negatively no freelance can ever accuse him of fomenting strifes, and positively his presidentship will enhance the digniy of our Conference and give weight to our decisions for he will bring experience and wisdom to bear upon our discussions. You know that wise men come from the East, but he comes from the West by way of exception. He is an Englishman who has thoroughly identified himself with Indians. In him East and West have not only met but actually fused. He is one of those who believe that the future of the world depends not on the ideals of the West exclusively, nor on the ideals of the East excusively, but upon the distilled ideals of the East and west combined. He practises what he preaches. For this reason he has become the most enthusiastic collaborator of our great poet and patriot, Dr. Rabindranath Tagore, in laying the foundations of a great University to what all that is wise and virtuous in the East and West will gravitate, and then radiate throughout India, if not throughout the world. Comrades, I am sure you will cordially join me in wishing our poet, president and patriots all passible success in their laudable enterprise.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

Mr. Andrews then took the presidential chair amidst loud cheers and said:—

My words to-day will be as concise as possible, for in railway matters the issues are simple and straightforward and the main general considerations are few in number, but of great importance.

EQUAL PAY FOR EQUAL WORK.

The first issue is clearly that of equal pay for equal work, and the elimination of all class and race distinctions in railway matters. I have belonged to the Labour Movement for over thirty years of my life and have worked with labour leaders in England and Scotland, in South Africa, in Australia and New Zealand, as well as in India itself; and even in South Africa, where racial discrimination is at its very worst, I never met a recognised labour leader, who did not, in theory at least, accept fully this vital principle of equal pay for equal work. This is now a fundamental principle of the labour movement all the world over. It is quite true that when brought up against hard concrete facts the labour leaders whom I met in South Africa on the Indian question strand from appyling it; they asked for time; they prevaricated; but, all the same, it was a supremely important thing that they all recognised the ideal and confessed that racialism was wrong.

The late Duke of Argyll has said:—"There is no method of reform so powerful as this:—If alongside any false or corrupt belief, or any vicious and cruel system, we place one incompatible ideal,—then without any noise of controversy, or clash of battle, those beliefs and customs will wane and die."

What I believe is happening, in the great world of labour to-day, is this. Labour is now reaching rapidly the international and humanitarian basis. It is becoming more and more based upon the ultimate principle of the brotherhood of man. There can be no other basis. Before this ultimate principle of equality all racialisms and nationalisms must vanish. Merit and merit alone must decide a man's worth, not colour or caste or creed.

In the Indian railway system to-day racialism is rampant. There is no need for me to point out, by a recitation of glaring examples, the utterly absurd distinctions between man and man, the pay and extra privileges which sometimes amount to five times the amount given to one man in contradistinction to another, simply because of some supposed racial distinction. I am quite prepared to argue with the person who argues that a thoroughly bad system cannot be altered all at once without dislocation. But I am not prepared to argue with the person who states that this racialism must remain. There is only one thing for it. Racialism must be done away with as rapidly as possible, and the pace must be determined at each stage by what is feasible and practical in the eyes of fair-minded men on both sides. Those who have special privileges to-day may well ask for time for readjustment, but they cannot possibly ask that the present racial inequalities should continue indefinitely.

ANACHRONISM.

There is one position, which has been quite frankly stated to me again and again with regard to the Northern railways by high railway officials. I may call it briefly the strategical argument. They state that the great railway lines to the North must be held by a proportion of British and Anglo-Indian employees because Indians cannot be trusted. I am giving their own exact words. It is needless for me to say how strongly I repudiate that argument. It is contrary to the whole spirit of the policy which, since August, 1917, has been declared to the whole civilised world as the policy of the British in India. Either therefore this declaration of August, 1917, should never have been made, or this argument should never now be used. To-day at any rate such an argument is an anachronism, and its use in the future is certain to create bad blood.

ECONOMIC RETRENCHMENT.

I come to the second great issue, that of economic retrenchment. We all know that at the present time in every country in the world the strictest economy must be exercised if national bankruptcy is not to take place. India is no exception. We cannot go on any longer with 40 crores deficit year after year. There must be economy practised on the railway wherever there is wasteful expenditure. I would suggest to the Retrenchment Committee that they should look carefully into the extravagance of the present system of continually recruiting men from abroad for the higher posts in the railways and refusing adequately to train capable and able men on the spot. We have unfortunately come into a vicious circle. There are literally thousands of educated Indians to-day who are sincerely willing to undergo any further training necessary and to submit to any exacting tests with regard to efficiency, if the higher posts in the railways are thrown completely open to them, not in word only, but in deed.

These men are ready to do the work on a mere economic scale. But there are two things that at present stand in their way. The former is, that they are quite uncertain whether, even after the most careful training and equipment for service, they will not be superseded by a junior man brought out from abroad who has not got their qualifications. Secondly, they are not ready to do the work on a more economical scale of pay while others are drawing a higher pay for the same kind of work simply because they belong to a different race. But I would be the last to urge ungenerous treatment towards those who have come in under the old bad system. I quite understood that if too rapid and sudden changes are made there will be very great individual hardships and injustices. But it must be quite clearly recognised, that the vicious system of the past must go, and that in the near future Indian Railways must be Indian managed and Indian run, and the economic scale of pay must be suited to a country which is as poor as India is to-day. The whole system from top to bottom must be suited to the economics of India, and not to that of any other country.

"DISGRACEFUL THIRD CLASS ACCOMMODATION."

This brings me to my third point, about which I feel personally more strongly than about any other. What I may call the humanitarian issue. There has been in the past a disgraceful neglect of the comforts and even of the decencies of the poor in India who travel on the railways in order to provide for the luxuries of the rich. No economic system of railway administration in a poor country, such as India is, ought to allow such huge profits to be made out of the third class poor passenger traffic and then to give them in return such disgraceful accommodation. This policy of unequal treatment of the poor vitiates the whole of our Indian railway policy from top to bottom. Among the railway employees it leads to miserable pittances of 10 rupees and 12 rupees a month to employees on what is called the menial staff (the very word 'menial' is a sign of the whole spirit underlying the system) and huge salaries running into thousands a month for superior officers. I say to-day emphatically from intimate experience of the life of the poor that many of the railway employees on whose faithful work the safety of the public depends are being starved in body and mind owing to the paucity of their pay.

QUESTION OF GRATUITY.

I now come to issues that are more technical and less easily understood by the general public. The first of these is the question of gratuity or bonus. I congratulate the Railway Unions and Associations on having won a signal victory in this matter. The vicious clause which made the gratuity forfeited by taking part in any strike, however honourable and legitimate, was fatal to the dignity of Labour. It had to be abolished. It is a matter of great thankfulness that it has now been abolished. But there are irritating exceptions which still remain. The first is the qualifying clause about a strike which has been declared illegal—declared illegal by whom, by the Executive or by the Legislative Assembly. We want that point clearing up. We do not trust an executive decision on that point, which may be only an echo of the Railway Board. Again there is a qualifying clause that men who have left the service since taking part in one of the recent strikes cannot receive the gratuity. Why not? In what way does their case actually and morally differ from that of those who are still in service? If it is once declared that participation in a strike does not cause forfeiture of gratuity than those who have left the service (apart from dismissal for gross misconduct) are clearly entitled to their bonus. Thirdly, it is quite obvious that the widows or next of kin of employees who have died during the interval should get the bonus. It appears to me that these two last propositions cannot be disputed by any reasonable man. I have put them before the Railway Board some months ago and have received an answer that they are to be carefully considered. But I have not yet received an answer that the position I have here taken has been accepted.

The second technical point to be brought forward is that of recognition of railway labour unions by the Railway companies and the offer of facilities by the latter for the conduct of business. Here I am utterly opposed to what I can only call the mendicant policy. For instance, it seems to me undignified to ask the Company, for all practical purposes, to collect from the wages the subscriptions for the Railway Union by deducting them from the pay. This puts the Union in a false position of dependence, and the essential thing in any Railway Labour Union is to be in an independent position. Furthermore, it tends to weaken character. If men are not willing to take the trouble to pay the monthly contribution to their Union themselves, it shows they have no use for it. In that case it would be far better to build up the Union from the foundation with smaller numbers rather than attempt to establish a bigger union on a weak and compromising basis. I would mention one further point that should be insisted on in every Railway Union, that is a public scrutiny and audit of all accounts.

The last point that I shall bring forward in this opening address is that of federation. There can be no question at all that the railway employees suffer enormously, at the present time, because they are faced by a Railway Board which represents the unification of the Railway administration of the whole of India, while there is no Board which represents the unification of the interests of Railway Labour. If there were a Railway Board representing the whole railway system of India on the men's side, it would be listened to with the utmost respect by the Railway Board at Simla and Delhi. But there is no such organ; and private individuals have to approach the Railway Board in order to set forward the men's case. This extremely bad for all parties. It leads great and unnecessary delays. It mean that abuses remain uncorrected. I put therefore this proposition before the present conference that it is a vital matter that some such Railway Board of Railway servants should be formed as soon as possible. May I add that it is impracticable to form such a Railway Labour Board unless the railway unions are willing to sink various differences and come together. I know the difficulties that stand in the way, and I have no wish to blame any Railway Union as such. I have expressed my willingness to go to the North and preside over a Railway Conference there, if time and health permit; and if I am able to go to the North I shall press for unity and the sinking of minor differences there, as am pressing it here.

I have tried to be as brief as possible in these opening words, and I trust I have made my points quite clear. I am out for unity and federation of labour, for the better treatment of the poor, for the entire abolition of all vested interests and racial discriminations in the future. I wish the whole economic system of the Indian railways to be Indian through and through. This does not mean that there will not be an honourable place in the future for the children of old servants of the Railway Conferences and others whether European or Anglo Indian; but they must be willing to accept the new conditions. They must be ready to work on equal terms with Indians who are their equals in character and training and technical equipment, and to demand no privileges for themselves or for their children which they are not ready to demand for Indians themselves.

The conference then adjourned till to-day

THE AKALI STRUGGLE.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—An unexpected note from the Editor of the "Bande Matram" appeared in the "Tribune" dated the 5th November 1922. The learned Editor says that "When the Government found that defeat was in the sight in the Guru-ka-Bagh struggle with the non-violent Akalis it proceeded in a very astute way and in order to give this defeat the colour of victory it prepared a Gurdwara Billa immediately." He appears to have laboured under some sort of suspicion with respect to the Sikhs that they might ever encroach upon the temples which are not theirs.

Let him know that the Sikhs have never had the ghost of idea of taking possession of non-Sikh religious places. It is a kind of sacrilege for a Sikh even to think of meddling with the religious affairs of others or especially ignoring the rights of his own kith and kin. The learned Editor should take my word that even if it perchance so happens that on account of some mistake any non-Sikh temples comes into the possession of the Sikhs, they shall consider it their religious duty to have no connection with its management. They are in duty bound to hand it over to whoever it really belongs. In cases of disputable character the learned Editor would be welcome to select any two arbitrators out of our religious Hindu leaders like Jagat Guru Shankaracharya. Their decision shall be binding. I, however, do not know that there is any non-Sikh religious place included in the schedule prepared by the Government. If the learned Editor honestly feels convinced that any such accidental mistake has happened, he should please write a letter to the Secretary of the Shromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee care of some Sikh gentlemen, for letters do not now reach the Shromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee in the ordinary course. It cannot be so unreasonable as not to allay his fears and to remove all sorts of misunderstandings. I am certain that no sooner does he reach Amritsar than he goes back fully satisfied.

As far as the present Sikh Gurdwaras and the Shrines Bill goes such a Bill can be in no case acceptable to the Sikhs especially when thousands of their own brethren are confined within the four walls of the prison-house. The Bill falls far short what they want. This cannot meet their requirements.

Let friends of the Sikhs prove that they are out to protect their religious places from degenerating into something else. They consider it a sin of heinous kind even to dream of superintending the sacred places of worship which are not their own. They are not so indiscreet as to wantonly offend others. At the same time I consider it my duty to tell the civilized world that they (the Sikhs) are fully determined to take out their Gurdwaras and Dharmsalas from the great depth of degradation into which they have fallen even at the cost of greatest sacrifice which the historians have not as yet known. The Sikhs shall not brook any interference in the management of their religious places from non-Sikhs however mighty they might happen to be.

After giving every sort of assurance to the learned Editor I do not consider myself happy to point out to him that he has unnecessarily used strong and misleading language. I take objection to the word defeat. The Sikhs cannot like even the idea of using the word "defeat" in connection with their English brethren whom they have wholeheartedly and ungrudgingly helped since the annexation of the Punjab in 1849, in coming out ever-victorious in almost all important theatres of war. The use of such words tends to aggravate the serious situation which the Sikhs tried their utmost to avoid. It does not mean that they are cowards. They have more than once shown to the civilised world what stuff they are made of. They cannot be cowed down.

But in times of danger the S. G. P. Committee which represents the Sikhs in religious matters, is sure to issue commandments to the Sikhs to fight for our old friends in seeing our country immune from foreign aggression. What they respectfully demand of the English people, is that they should not allow themselves to be misled, and should calmly consider the whole state of affairs, and honestly and courageously help them in properly managing their religious places and in making the best use of wakf properties for which they were endowed. This act of the Britons is bound to strengthen the tie of friendship despite the fact that some of the British Officers have not behaved well and have acted in such a bad manner as to endanger our cordial relations.

The use of the word "immediately" in connection with the preparation of the Bill is wrong and absurd. Who can deny that our law-givers are slow in moving this matter? I honestly believe that they have not taken the matter in hand with the mastery of the facts and zeal which the circumstances of the case require.

At one place the learned Editor says "The Hindus have been rendering all possible aid to the Akalis." It is the weakness of the Hindus and other non-Akali Sects. that has encouraged the Government to secure Akali good-will even at the cost of displeasing the former.

I request him to follow the advice of Jagat Guru Shankaracharya and not to force the Sikhs to disclaim Hinduism. At least he should have used the words "other Hindus" in place of the "Hindus."

What appears to me, is this that some short-sighted British Officers yield to the hue and cry of interested and selfish persons and their paid agents or misguided sympathisers, and they do not appear to care for the feelings of the Sikhs whose cause is just and holy.

I request the Editor to constitute a Shromani Mandir Prabandhak Committee similar to that of the Sikhs in order to control and superintend the non-Sikh Shrines. He will then find that those Mahants who now seek his shelter, in putting forward all sorts of accusations and false allegations against the Akalis saying that the Gurdwara whose servant or trustee he happens to be, is a non-Sikh place, will at once change their side and be glad to lay blame at the door of the S. M. P. Committee of our brethren if it ever comes into existence to our good-luck. I assure the Editor that the S. G. P. Committee of the Sikhs would be only too glad even to hand over to such S. M. P. Committee of our kith and kin the management of religious places of disputable and doubtful character even. These corrupt servants (so-called Mahants) wish to set some one against the Sikhs for their selfish motives and self-aggrandisement. I believe they have succeeded to some extent in this nefarious work. If the Editor means by the words "Non-Akalis" those who are not Sikhs, I would not object to their use. But he should know that every Sikh except traitor is an Akali, whether he wears, a black turban, Kirpan, and even a Kachha or not; provided he believes in the tenets of the Great Gurus as enunciated in the Guru Granth Sahib, and has no other faith.

The other Hindus are bound to help the Khalsa brethren; for the latter have from the beginning of their existence rendered meritorious services to the former; and above all both are one and the same. I am reluctant to narrate that other Hindus have not helped the Sikhs to the extent they should have done so. It is time that great leaders like Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, and Jagat Guru Shankaracharya did all they could to ease the situation and assist the latter (the Sikhs). It is good that they (the former) should look on the struggle with sympathetic eye and see that no foul game should be played by any party and the reasonable complaint of the aggrieved party such as the want of sufficient covering for the arrested persons during winter nights is paid attention to. The Sikhs, however, expect help from them in more ways than one in this struggle of their religious freedom. If our friend the Editor and Hindus fail to support us in our critical time and we fail to achieve success to the degree we deserve and desire, sin shall be on our brethren's shoulders. Let them remember also that they will suffer greater than we, if we do not succeed on account of their apathy. Let them ponder over my humble suggestion on one day early in the morning. I appeal to the learned Editor to be cautious and bear in mind that our cause is just and holy and we are destined to be triumphant. What the Editor and other Hindu papers should do is this that they should ask other Hindus besides the Sikhs to wake up in order to see that all their temples are placed under local Panchayats (small managing committees elected by the people of the place) subordinate and responsible to every Provincial, Shromani Mandir Parbandhak Committee; and these Provincial Committees should be placed under the Central Controlling Body called by the name of the All-India Hindu S. G. Prabandhak Committee and the proceeds from these wakf properties should be profitably used for the purpose for which these temples stand; that is for the bettering of the religious, moral and educational condition of the Hindus. We shall be glad to see such move on the part of our own kinsmen, and in such a beneficient work our true services shall be at their disposal. We, nevertheless fully understand that the "Bande Matram" paper is ours despite of the fact that its learned Editor appears to have written something unwarranted and uncalled for.

Here I also take the opportunity of saying few words with respect to certain letters published in the name of so-called "Sejdhari," who appears to have been afraid to let us know his name. I may without the least hesitation declared that on more than one occasion Sejdharis Sikhs have admitted the Shromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee to be their representative body. They believe that their interests are the same as those of their Keshdharis brethren and are safe in the hands of the selected and elected body, Shromani Gurdwara Prabandhak Committee. If the names of some of the important Sejdharis are required to be mentioned in this connection, I may mention amongst many those of Bana Salamit Rai Vakil of Jullundur, the Chairman of Gurnana Sabha, and the Vice-President of the Doaba Sikh Sabha, Baba Gopal Dass a big rais of Burdaspur Distict, Bhai Bati Shah of Sanghai, the Managar of the Khalsa School at Shanghai Jhelum District, Bhai Hardyal Ram M. A., Vakil, who is a big contractor of Delhi, Baba Hari Das Bar.at-Law and Municipal Commissioner of Jullundar, Baba Basant Singh of Amritsar.

In the end I assure my friend Editor that the Sikhs have got the greatest regard for the feelings and religion of other communities but at the same time they desire that they as the followers of monotheistic religion should not be teased and annoyed by others with their method of worship in their own temples at least.

The Mahants, Pujaris and the Managers of the Bungas and Jhandas and Granthis should bear in mind that the Sikhs do not intend to turn them out as long as they continue to possess the necessary qualifications of good and zealous sewadars in doing the work allotted to them. The Akali movement is confined to the removal of bad Mahants or Sewadars only and the reform of Sikh religious places. All the Sikhs including the Sewadars would have greatly benefited, if the income from wakf property attached to these religious places and cost and presents offered had been utilized.

May God steel the hearts of our Sikhs in His service and the service of suffering humanity.—Yours, etc.

THE GURUDWARA ACT.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—The Sikh Gurdwara's Bill has become law and I take this opportunity to impress on my co-religionists all over India the salient features of the new legislation which undoubtedly confers many benefits on my community.

From the standpoint of the reformers among my co-religionists the law relating to Shrines, as it stood before the Gurdwara's Bill was passed, has three drawbacks:—

1. Delays.
2. Expensiveness.
3. The Courts lacked the special knowledge in matters of Sikh religious belief and ritual which is essential to a sympathetic administration of the law.

The new Gurdwara's Bill establishes a purely Sikh Board, which will be able to give special and exclusive attention to the Shrines, and deal cheaply and quickly and in an understanding spirit with each disputed matter.

I should like it to be carefully noted that the orders passed by the Board will remain in force until they are set aside by the regular Courts or by consent of parties. Its effects, therefore, is to shift the onus from the aggrieved congregation of worshippers on to the shoulders of the incumbent of the shrine. If a bad Mahant is ousted by the Sikh Board from a disputed Shrine, he will only be able to recover his place after a suit in which it will be for him to make out his case to the satisfaction of the Courts.

The Bill, therefore, greatly facilitates the removal of the bad type of Mahant, and also the insistence upon the application of the property of a Shrine to the purposes of religion. The Mahants can thus have nothing to say against the Act on any reasonable ground.—Yours, etc.

be taken to heart by France and Italy as much as Britain. He condemned the late Government's call to the Dominions, and did not want to see the day when the Dominions were asked to help us about a matter on which they were not consulted.

LORD SALISBURY EXPLAINS.

Lord Salisbury, replying, said the Government recognised the importance of taking the Dominions into their confidence regarding Imperial commitments and securing their assent to them. The Government was determined to maintain the Allied friendship. They intended to take a firm line regarding the wretched suffering populations of the Near East, but they did not desire to be unfriendly to Turkey.

UNITY OF ALLIED POLICY.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

In the House of Lords, the Marquess of Salisbury stated that Government was carefully examining the obligations into which we had entered in Mesopotamia and Palestine. The first business of the Government was to back up the policy Lord Curzon had already made of getting rid of the element of Allied divergence. Government's policy was to restore stable conditions in the Near East without in any way threatening the independence of Turkey. While substantial progress could not yet be said to have been made at Lausanne, everything promised well.

AMUNDMENT TO THE ADDRESS.

LONDON, Nov. 24.

Amongst numerous amendments to the Address being put on the table is the Scottish Labourites', which regrets that there has been no mention of Scottish Home Rule proposals. Liberal amendments favour curtailment and avoidance of any further expenditure in Mesopotamia. They regret absence of plans to provide further useful work for the unemployed. National Liberals' amendements urge appointment of an enquiry commission in view of the serious position of agriculture and favour the extension of unemployment insurance by trades.

MR. SAKLATWALA'S MAIDEN SPEECH.

CAUSE OF LOSS OF TRADE WITH INDIA.

LONDON, Nov. 23.

Mr. Saklatvala made his maiden speech on the occasion of the debate on the King's speech. He attributed the loss of trade with India to the imposition of a Constitution on India which has been written outside India, and also to the capitalist system, which was responsible for the erection of 74 jute mills in Bengal. This had resulted in the shutting of shops in Dundee, employing Bengal labour at 13 shillings a month, and the reaping of dividends of from 100 to 400 per cent.

YARN MARKET REPORT.

November, 24.

The yarn market has ruled quiet throughout the whole week and prices have been all round easier. Offtake is small and upcountry demand has been very slack. Calcutta, Rangoon, Madras and Punjab report quiet markets and show no inclination to effect fresh purchases except at much lower prices. It seems the purchasing power of the consumers has seriously curtailed due to light money, continuous losses incurred since long, heavy fluctuations and uncertain tendency etc and it is quite evident that consuming centres are not willing to incur any risk by means of heavy commitments. They are buying hand to mouth and wait for further decline. As a matter of fact, people have no confidence in the present prices which they regard very high and believe that prices all round should come down sooner or later. Raw cotton has kept more or less steady but the trade demand being slack, improvement in Yarns is not possible.

English yarns have been neglected due to heavy Japanese Sales. Stocks, however, are slowly decreasing and fresh business is heard no more. Japanese yarns move fairly well but spot prices have declined due to heavy arrivals from Japan of September-October and October shipments. It is said S. S. Sumatra Maru is bringing about four thousand bales, most of which are of 20s. yarn and hence the spot prices have been easier. Fresh forward quotations are comparatively higher and hence no fresh sales on a large scale are reported. Merchants have exhausted their capacity to incur further and further risks as most of their recent purchases have also brought heavy loss to them.

Indian yarns have practically ruled very quiet. 6½s has declined considerably and is still further declining due to slack demand. 8½, 10½, 12½, and 14½ have kept quiet but due to less stocks prices have not undergone much change. 16s. 20s and further counts are not sold except at ruinous prices owing to serious Japanese competition. China has been very dull due to unfavourable exchange on account of weak silver. Mills are holding back basing their calculation on raw cotton prices and do not seem inclined to sell at much lower prices. Dealers have lost all aloni in their purchases and in no circumstances they are prepared to undergo any further risks. Hence the business deadlock.

The tone of the market is still weak and uncertain but we think it safe to slowly begin buying at each low level, for the process of declining prices cannot continue long in view of steady cotton and less stocks in consuming centres.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

During the week under review the New York market shows a slight improvement in values whilst Liverpool shows a moderate decline.

In the early part of the week, the tone of the American market was steady on trade buying and shorts covering, but in the middle of the week the market declined owing to long liquidation, lack of buying power and poor trade demand. Later on, the market improved on the Census Bureau report giving the quantity of cotton ginned upto 13th November as 8,870,000 bales, whereas last year's figure on the same date showed only 7,274,201 bales ginned. The market again declined on straddle selling and absence of buying power, but towards the close of the week improved somewhat on general buying.

Owing to the strength of the statistical position, we look for a further upward tendency of values in the American markets in the near future, although there may possibly be temporary setbacks. For the long run, our opinion is bullish and would still recommend buying on breaks. As regard the future of the local market, our opinion is for higher rates in the long run. Prices at present are relatively low compared with American values and as we look for an upward movement of prices on that side also owing to the strength of the statistical position, we think that we are likely, sooner or later, to see high prices ruling here, and recommend buying at the present level of prices.

Our market for Ready cotton in the beginning of the week was steady with a good enquiry for nice lots, but later on the weakness of the Forward market reacted on the Ready market and sales were practically small, buyers being reluctant to pay higher prices asked for by stockholders. The enquiry at present is chiefly confined to nice stapled descriptions of cotton from local mills. Stocks of desirable qualities are now exhausted, whilst arrivals of new crop cotton have been delayed owing to recent rains.

The following were the changes in the Home markets as compared with a week ago:—

FINANCE.

Conditions in the money market continue easy but, as we remarked last week, an improved inquiry is confidently expected in the near future. The Hundi rate of the Imperial Bank is up by 1 per cent and now stands at 6 per cent. The call money rate in the market is about 1½ per cent and the short deposit rate remains at about the same level, viz, 3½ per cent for three months and 4 per cent for six months.

From the weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of India, Government deposits show an increase of Rs. 85.20 lacs, while the other deposits show a decrease of Rs. 283.79 lacs. The cash balance is reduced by Rs. 291.44 lacs and now stands at Rs. 27,95,92,000, the percentage being 33.53 as compared with 38.27 of last week. The Bank rate remains unchanged at 5 per cent. There was some falling off in the demand for g' securities owing to the expectation ugitness in the money market and the 6 per cent bonds are now quoted at about 3/4 to 7/8 per cent premium.

The result of last week's sale of Treasury bills is as follows:—The total amounts applied for were Rs. 2,24,00,000 in three months' bills and Rs. 1,27,00,000 in six months' bills. Tenders for three months' bills at Rs. 99—1 received about 60 per cent and above in full, the average rate of accepted tenders being Rs. 99—1—1 per cent. Tenders for six months' bills at Rs. 97 -12 received about 87 per cent and above in full, the average rate being Rs. 97—12 per cent. The rate for interm ediate six months' bills is Rs. 97-13 per cent. To-day Rs. 1,00,00,000 Treasury bills (Rs. 50,00,000 in three months and Rs. 50,00,000 in six months) are again on offer.

EXCHANGE.

There were startling fluctuations in the exchange market during the week. The market opened round 1 s. 3—29/32d. and improved to as high a rate as 1 s. 4 d. on bills showing both here and in Calcutta, with the forward rate touching to 1s. 4—1/32d. During the course of the week, however, the rates have dropped to 1s. 3—13/16 d., on profit taking as the result of an increased inquiry for remittances. At the close exchange is again steady round 1s. 3—29/32d. The general tendency towards a higher rate of exchange is still apparent, and the reaction which we witnessed this week, is considered to be merely temporary. The demand for bullion import still continues on only a limited scale for the reason which was mentioned in our last report, viz, heavy stocks of both silver and gold.

American exchange on London improved from $ 4.48 to $ 4.50 and closes steady at that level. The German mark remained steady round 28,000 to the pound sterling, while the French franc improved from 64.00 to 62.20 and closes at 62.90.

GOLD

In sympathy with sterling exchange and the American cross rate on London, our market moved somewhat rapidly; the highest and lowest rates during the week are Rs 26-6 and Rs. 25-14 for cash delivery. The offtake still continues at about 15,000 tolas a day and the stock is estimated at about 5 lacs tolas. This week's shipment is expected but at the close is easy. The price in London improved during the early part of the week, but subsequently declined and closes easy at 32¼ d. for ready and 32 9/16 for forward. The off-take averages about 90 bars a day and the stock is estimated at 23000 bars. This week's shipment is expected to be for about £ 30,000. The Shanghai-London rate opened round 3 s. 2–1/8 d, improved during the week to 3 s. 2–3/4 d, but closes easy at 3 s. 2d. Our market was in the main moving in sympathy with the Shanghai-London rate.

SHARES.

The market was open throughout the week and a fair amount of business was put through in Cotton mill shares. Prices remained steady with a general tendency to improvement, and although there were some temporary set-backs the undertone continues healthy in view of short sales for the ensuing December settlement. Bombay Dyeings moved between Rs. 1250 and Rs. 1270, Centuries between Rs. 622-8 and Rs. 640, Central Indias between Rs. 3460 and Rs. 3500, Crescents between Rs. 411-4 and 417-8, Indore Malwa between Rs. 560 and Rs. 575, Nominoors between Rs. 1715 and Rs. 1755, New Greats between Rs. 582-8 and Rs. 600, Pearls between Rs. 870 and Rs. 885, Shapurjis between Rs. 202-8 and Rs. 212-8 and Swadeshis between Rs. 3460 and Rs. 3500.

The miscellaneous section continues dull and neglected. Tata Steel deferreds are quoted round Rs. 112-8 with Ordinaries round Rs. 38-12. Bombay Trams are quoted in the neighbourhood of Rs. 102 with Bundi Cement at some Rs. 29-8xd, and Katni Cement Ordinary round Rs. 225. Bank shares are steady, Imperial Banks round Rs. 1340, and the Contributories round Rs. 342-8. Bank of India shares are quoted at Rs. 99 and Tata Banks are steady around Rs. 19.

GENERAL TONE OF THE MARKET.

Bombay, Nov. 24.

The market opened steady. Owing to shorts covering their sales, later on, certain well-known bulls came out to sale, and this caused the market to decline.

The tone of the Market towards closing was weak.

There is nothing special to report in the miscellaneous shares. The Badla Margin is very narrow.

SUGAR MARKET.

BOMBAY, Nov. 24.

During the latter part of last week and early this week our market ruled very firm on stronger news from Karachi and Java and prices both for ready and Forward positions had been advanced by eight to ten annas per cwt all round.. There was good enquiry for forward positions owing to rise in Exchange and a fair business was done in White Javas November shipment at 19s./4 to 20s. & December-January at 19s./6 to 20s./7 and January at 20s. to 20s./10 per cwt. Free gilders, Indians were free sellers and with quieter news from Calcutta and Krachi there are re-sellers at 4d. to 6d. per cwt. lower and December January is quoted at 20s./2 F. B. H.

Calcutta and Karachi markets ruled strong during the early part of the week with good business done since then both the markets are quiet. Java market keeps steady and prices have been advanced ½ gilder and Decr. January is quoted at 13½ gilders F. O. B.

The following are the bazar rates and stocks: T. M. O. Rs. 22-2-0—19s./6 F. B. Harbour stocks 250,000 Bgs. Brown Rs. 2-0-0—18s. F. B. Harbour stock 5,000 Bgs.

MILL STORES MARKET.

Bombay, Nov. 24.

Cotton Healds kept unaltered in the week and the buyers were rather hesitating to stock large lots in anticipation of a further fall in the prices. Lambeth ropes and bandings are also silent and the forward prices are comparatively easy. Among bobbins, no noticeable fluctuations have been recorded. There was a better demand this week in Slubbings which changed hands at Rs. 30, and slightly upwards. Rovings are again scarce and the demand from up-country poured in at Rs. 29 and upwards. Conical pirns and weft pirns have had no further alterations in the values. Fillets kept in the same lethargic condition. Pickers, Picking bands and leather goods have no further interesting developments. The quotations are as under:—

Healds Rs. 2-1-9; Reeds Re. 0-5-3; Roller Cloth 18 Rs. 10-4; Roller Cloth 16 Rs. 9; Clearer Cloth 22 Rs. 5-12; Sizing Flannel Rs. 4-12 (66); Sizing Flannel Rs. 5-2 (72in.); Sizing Flannel Rs. 4-6 (62); Bandings Spindle Rs. 1-7; Bandings Tubular Rs. 2-2; Bandings Rim, etc., Rs. 1-2; Fillets Re. 0-12-0; Picking Bands Rs. 2-4; Pickers 4 Rs. 65.

CHEMICALS MARKET.

Bombay, Nov. 24.

This week saw better and animated demand in the Litharge, Brown sugar lead and Antimony salt which kept in demann from up-country. Caustic soda and Bleaching powder have had no appreciable fluctuations and the volume of business transacted was rather little. Zinc chloride and Magnesium chloride kept steady and the forward prices are rather on an upward trend. Bichromate soda and potash changed hands at Rs. 45 and 56 respectively. Sulphate or alumina and aniline salt have had no noticeable features this week. Potash chlorate changed hands at Re. 0-3-9 per lb. Oxalic is offered at below Rs. 50 per cwt. Farina had a good demand, but the price is regularly falling in view of heavy arrivals and easier forward indenting price which has touched £15 per ton C.I.F. Bombay. The quotations are as under:—

Potash Chlorate Re. 0-3-9; Potash Bichromate Rs. 56; Soda Caustic Rs. 32-8; Soda Bichromate Rs. 45; Soda Sulphide Rs. 22 U. A.; Soda Silicate Rs. 10; Soda Hyposulphide Rs. 19; Soda Hydrosulphide Rs. 1-10; Salt Aniline Re. 0-8; Salt Antimony Re. 0-13-6; Salt Epsom Rs. 4-4; Sola Glauber Rs. 5; Chloride Zinc Rs. 22-8; Chloride Magnesium Rs. 4; Farina Rs. 19.

FREIGHT MARKET.

SCINDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO'S REPORT.

Nov. 24.

Market has been very quiet during the week and very little business is reported. Bookings amount to about 12,000 scale tons for November-December.

Tonnage market however keeps very firm owing to continued demand from Australia and also from the River Plate which has drawn a number of steamers from the Mediterranean in ballast. The supply of steamers for India has therefore diminished and rates remain firm at about 27.6 on deadweight basis.

Current rates quoted for light seeds are about 19/6 and 23/6 for seeds measurement but some Liner bookings have been made for Marseilles at 16/9 and 17 light seeds basis.

THAT IS IT!

We know what you want—we know what we are about—and we know what tells.

The days of humdrum cock-and-bull bunkum in shape of thirty-six reels serials are reckoned! Those halcyon days when Cine—lovers used to be delighted with cheap and tinsel dramas are passed.

You insist on having chop-good pictures with a "go" in them—pictures that brace you up, exhilerate you, instruct you, thrill you, and—don't make a silly fool of you.

AND HERE IS SOME SUCH STUFF FOR YOU THIS WEEK AND THE NEXT

It Starts right to-day!

IT IS A TWO-WEEK PICTURE!

"THE DISCIPLE OF NAPOLEON"

12 Reels—12000 feet—all told!

And this first week we screen the Opening 6 Chapters! Chapters with the verve and the velocity, with the grip and vivacity that you alwa find in that master delineator of human nature

SIR ARTHUR CONA DOYLE

That internationally famous and popular author of that immortal work of "Sherlock Holmes."

Yes—this Cine-History is reproduced from a memorable great book of this very master-mind

"THE DISCIPLE OF NAPOLEON"

The wonderful Production that cost the renowned Eclair Company a neat sum of twelve lakhs of Rupees! One lakh for each chapter—fancy that!

A Story that revolves round that great central figure.—

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE

Whom you have now learnt to admire and love. Here he is amidst all the Splendour of his invincible "entourage" of mighty French Generals—Generals, who under him shook the world from end to end; Generals who created a glorious France! And the great warrior-Emperor now is face-to-face with his dreaded foe—England! The great heroic Sea-Lord

ADMIRAL NELSON

Is still the Supreme master of the Seas. And there are internal troubles from the intractable Jacobins.

You see here in this picture

"THE DISCIPLE OF NAPOLEON"

all THIS depicted in a manner that is worthy of the great Eclair Company. The love "affaires" of Napoleon's handsome Lieutentant—and the supreme manner in which Napoleon interests himself in them—in spite of all his political and military responsibilities is indeed a treat to follow.

COME—WE PROMISE YOU A SUPER—EXCELLENT PICTURE!
SOMETHING G AND—SUPERB—SPARKLING!

A rollicking Comedy in the programme To-day: 3-45 5-30; 7; 8-45 and 10-30. p.m. (S. T.)

Fat Soon Departs

and Health is Renewed, When You Take

"OBESO-THIN"

According to your height so should be your weight. Every pound of useless flesh that you put on creates more and more work for the vital organs. In persons of normal weight the wear and tear on the system is normal and, therefore, conducive to health and longevity. Load the body with adipose tissue, however, and you immediately overburden the system.

You look Younger and feel Younger

If you are stout you look older than you are, due not only to your form, but also because the fat, pressing upon and interfering with the action of the heart, lungs and kidneys, brings about premature ageing.

Reduces from 3 to 5 pounds per Week. Leaves no Sagging flesh behind.

OBESO-THIN usually takes 10 to 14 days to show results. 8 Days' treatment costs Rs. 5. OBESO-THIN PILLS strongly recommended to be taken with the treatment. Re. 1 per box.

Calcutta, 30th October, 1922.
We have made a careful examination of the sample marked "OBESO-THIN" received from you on the 25th instant and find it to be FREE from INJURIOUS SUBSTANCES. In our opinion it is suitable for human consumption in the manner prescribed.

GENEVA CONFERENCE.

MR. JOHI'S SPEECH.

Mr. N. M. Joshi, a Workers' Delegate from India to the Geneva Labour Conference at one of its meetings held recently when the report of the Director of the International Labour Office was discussed, after referring to the account of the Conference, said :—

"The third point to which I should like to refer is in connection with the Colonies and Protectorates. The report mentions the question of applying the conventions and recommendations drawn up by the Conference to the Colonies and Protectorates of several countries, but it also mentions that the results have, on the whole, been very disappointing. I hope, therefore, that this Conference and the governing body will pay special attention to this subject. I know of several Colonies, of Great Britain, at any rate, where labour conditions are not satisfactory and in which the recommendations and conventions we have drawn up, have not yet been applied. For example, there is Ceylon and there are the Federated Malay States. I can mention several others where these conventions and recommendations have not yet been applied.

Take my own country. We have got in my country what are known as Indian States. These Indian States, I am quite sure, have not yet ratified any of our conventions and recommendations. These Indian States cannot be considered as outside the League; as a matter of fact, they are in the League. I know that their representative attends the meetings of the Assembly of the League of Nations as a member of the Indian Delegation and I suggest that the Director of the International Labour Office should interview the representative of the Indian States and use his influence with him to pursuade him to give effect to the recommendations and conventions drawn up by this Conference.

MATERNITY REPORT.

The fourth point to which I wish to make reference is the Maternity Report presented by the Government of India to this Conference last year. I then asked the Director whether he was going to submit this report to the governing body and place the view of the governing body before this Conference. I think I am right in saying that the Director stated that in the course of time the report would be presented to the governing body. But I do not gather from his report that this has been done. I again suggest to the Director that this report should be placed before the governing body or directly before the Conference. The Government of India in that report declined to take any steps or to do anything in regard to the maternity question, and personally I think it is high time that they did take steps in this mater. It will, therefore, be of advantage if the Director of the International Labour Office were to consider this report and place it before the governing body, so that it may be considered at least by the next Conference.

The fifth point to which I wish to draw the attention of this Conference is the reference in the report to special countries—countries which are considered to deserve special consideration on account of their climatic and other conditions. Last year, in my speech on the report, I suggested that the International Labour Office should make a special study of the conditions of life and work in those special countries and that the Conference ought to pay some attention to those countries.

There are many countries which are not represented here by the Workers' Delegates, specially the Oriental countries, which are considered to be special countries. Take China : it is a very vast country with a population of four hundred millions ; there may not be a very large number of organised workers in China ; but it is the duty of this Conference to consider their condition. There is an idea in some quarters in this Conference that it should pay special attention to those countries where the workers are organised. In my opinion it is a great mistake, a very sad mistake, to neglect those countries where the workers are not organised. As a matter of fact, the report admits the danger of neglecting these countries. The organised workers not only have to meet the opposition of the employers in their own countries, but they must understand that there is great danger to their interests from the unorganised workers themselves, I, therefore, earnestly hope that the workers' group in this Conference, and, indeed the whole Conference, will devote special attention to these countries. If the Conference does not take special measures to consider the conditions of life and work of the working classes in the special countries, I propose myself to move a resolution in this Conference on this matter.

Then, sir, I would like to say one word about the praise which the Director of the International Labour Office has bestowed upon the Government of India. I admit that that praise is not wholly unmerited. There is no doubt that the Government of India did their best to ratify the conventions passed at Washington, but I am afraid their attitude towards the Conference held at Genoa is not the same. The Director ought to have known by this time that they had practically refused to ratify the Genoa conventions and recommendations. I do not know whether they ratified entirely any of these conventions and recommendations they may have ratified one convention conditionally. I do not think they have done anything more than this.

A SUGGESTION.

Therefore, although I consider that the Government of India do deserve some praise for their attitude towards the conventions and recommendations passed at Washington. I request that the Director of the International Labour Office should be more discriminating in his praise of that Government. My fear is that unless he does that, the attitude of the Government of India towards the conventions and recommendations passed by the last Conference will be still more reactionary. Some of the conventions and recommendations passed last year at Geneva have already been considered. The last meeting of our Legislative Assembly considered the recommendation concerning the weekly rest day in commercial undertakings and the Government of India refused to do anything beyond sending copies of the recommendation to the Provincial Governments. They did not even ask for reports from these Governments.

Now, if we can judge what is to follow from their attitude towards the other recommendations and conventions, I think the Director of the International Labour Office will have cause to regret praising the Government of India in these unqualified terms.

I bring my remarks to a close after having said only one word regarding the suggestion which I made to this Conference last year that the International Labour Office should open branch offices in Oriental countries. I cannot see why they should maintain offices in Berlin, London, Paris and Washington and not in India and Japan. Does the Director think that he has sufficient information about these countries while he cannot get information about the conditions of life and work in London and Berlin? Surely if there is any necessity to have branch offices in any countries, it is the Oriental countries. Very few delegates in this Conference know anything about the conditions of life and work in those countries, and if the International Labour Office maintains offices there, the Conference will be in a much better position to judge of those conditions. After all, the expenditure involved would not be great; and if the International Labour Office can spend hundreds of thousands of francs on their London and Berlin offices, I request them to spend a few thousand francs on their offices in India and Japan."

A correspondent wires :—This year's annual conference of the Deccan non-Brahmin League will be held at Satara on the 16th and 17th December, Mr. Dhanikachalam Chetty, M.L.C., presiding. At the same time the non-Brahmin Social Conference will, also, be held and His Highness the Maharaja Saheb of Kolhapur has consented to preside over it.

Baby loves the Glaxo Feeder

Next in importance to Baby's food is Baby's feeder, and the Glaxo Feeder is designed to lighten work and to help Baby get the utmost benefit from his food.

The Glaxo Feeder can be held in the hand for 20 minutes without fatigue, and its graduated measure, ensuring that Baby has the correct amount of food, does much to prevent the disorders that arise from over-feeding. The valve automatically adjusts the intake of air to the strength of Baby's sucking. Baby loves it !

British-made throughout—bottle, teat and valve—the Glaxo Feeder is best in design, materials, and workmanship.

THE PRACTITIONER says : "We have carefully examined the Glaxo Feeder, and have no hesitation in saying that it is the best that has come to our notice."

Glaxo Feeder

"The Perfect Feeder for the Perfect Food"

Obtainable from all Chemists and Dealers

Tins of Glaxo specially packed for the Indian Market always bear the "Glaxo Baby" on the centre panel and the wording 'for consumption in the tropics' The food contained in tins so marked is guaranteed fresh by the makers. Do not purchase any tins which do not bear the above trade mark and wording.

Your Eyes are your Greatest Asset

With proper care they will remain so for the whole of your lifetime.

Very few people possess sight so good that they never need glasses.

Most people require glasses sooner or later, though it may be for totally different purposes.

Neglect in securing expert optical attention is sure to tell upon your sight.

It may not be conscious neglect, because it is impossible for you to know the exact condition of your sight, until it has been scientifically tested.

Once this is done, accurate glasses can be supplied and your "Greatest Asset" will thus be safely preserved.
